Name - Calling By HHH Deplored By GOP Nominee

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Republican Richard M. Nixon has accused Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey of lowering the tone of the White House campaign with some "rather silly name calling." The name at issue: Fearless Fossdick.

That hapless comic strip detective became something of an issue in the presidential race after Humphrey, the Democratic nominee, applied the name to Nixon.

"I am not going to indulge in the kind of stuff—I call it stuff for the moment—that Mr. Humphrey has been indulging in," Nixon said Friday night, "all of this sort of rather silly name calling."

Nixon dealt with the Fossdick matter in an interview after the hour-long, $30,000 telecast, one in a series of big-state TV shows which are a major feature of his presidential strategy.

He said he will kid Humphrey a bit, "hit him hard where I disagree with him on an issue."

"But after all, either he or I is going to be president of the United States and I think to get into some of this business lately of Fearless Fossdick and all that is kind of a little below what a presidential candidate ought to do."

The Humphrey comments

Ex-Officer Said Florida 'Phone Killer'

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — A former policeman was charged today as the man who killed a 12-year-old girl and then telephoned police to say, "Please catch me!"

A second degree murder warrant charged Robert John Eriker Jr., 24, with the killing of Marilyn Clark, whose partially clothed body was found with five bullets in the head Aug. 12.

Eriker resigned from the Hollywood police Sept. 5 for "personal reasons." Police sent out a nationwide bulletin for him after issuing the warrant today, calling Eriker armed and dangerous.

After a man called police and said, "I just killed three people," the body of the girl and her wounded 42-year-old mother were found four miles apart.

The mother, Mrs. Dorothy Clark of Clarkston, Ga., had been shot six times in the head but survived with some facial paralysis. She remained today in a hospital unaware her child was dead.

The stocky, crewcut Eriker lived in a nearby trailer park with his wife and one child.

Eriker had been a member of the Dania, Fla., police for three months but resigned last November to become a Hollywood policeman.

Gilligan Attacks Saxbe Funding

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — John J. Gilligan, Democratic Senate candidate, implied Friday that his position on some issues might be costing him financial support.

At the same time, Gilligan asserted that his Republican opponent, Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, has a $2 million-plus campaign bankroll and questioned what positions Saxbe has taken to draw such backing.

Saxbe's campaign manager, Gerald A. Donahue, promptly rebutted Gilligan's statement, saying claims about an "astronomical" budget are unfounded and untrue.

Blame Company For Fish Deaths

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Division of Wildlife says waste products discharged into the Muskingum River by the Stone Container Corp. was responsible for a major fish kill last month.

Enforcement supervisor Dale Roach said the firm would receive a $9,000 bill for the loss of 186,000 fish of all species. The kill occurred north of Zanesville.

which inserted Al Capp's comic strip detective into the presidential campaign were made in Island Beach, N.J., when he was asked about Nixon's statement that doubling the conviction rate would do more to reduce crime than doubling antipoverty funds would.

Humphrey said the President has little to do with doubling the rate of convictions on mainly local crimes, but, he added, "if Mr. Nixon is going to play Fearless Fossdick, that is his privilege. I prefer to play the role of a leader who wants to see both civil order and civil justice."

Navy Reservists' Release Blasted As 'Disgraceful'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, in an action described by one congressman as "disgraceful," has announced early release for 30,000 Navy reservists serving two-year active duty enlistments.

The Pentagon said the move announced Friday would result in a saving of $48 million in the current fiscal year, thus helping to meet federal spending cuts mandated by Congress.

The plan, however, does not affect thousands of Army, Air Force and National Guard personnel who were activated early this year in the wake of the US Pueblo.

Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., a member of the House Armed Services Committee, labeled the plan "an outrageous injustice" and suggested that the callup during the Pueblo crisis was "an excuse to gain extra manpower" to meet demands of the Vietnam war.

Schweiker, who has written a complaining letter to Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said the January activation of nearly 15,000 Navy and Air Force reservists was an "outrageous sham" and said the men have been performing only routine chores.

The men who will benefit by the Pentagon's "early out" plan are individuals who voluntarily signed up for a Navy reserve program referred to as the "two by six" tour.

This requires two years active duty plus four years in a reserve status. The usual Navy enlistment is a flat four years active service.

Some reservists in this program will be allowed to cut their two-year active duty period by as much as one year.

Putting the questions were Euclid businessman Carmen Mazzocchi; Mrs. Chris Cook, a housewife; Richard Maher, a political journalist; attorney Lawrence Lskroner and Frank Kelker, a Negro YMCA director all of Cleveland, and Everett Denney, a Columbus farm manager.

"I will be back many times. I'm going to appear at rallies and on other television programs," Nixon promised his enthusiastic studio audience of about 300.

There was loud applause when Nixon said the Supreme Court should not be allowed to weaken the peace forces so much that the criminal forces can run rampant in this country.

There has been no new heart trouble, Walter Reed Army Hospital said Friday.

However, it said there is no indication yet when the 77-year-old Eisenhower may be able to return to his Gettysburg, Pa., home.

Eisenhower suffered his fifth, sixth and seventh heart attacks at the military hospital within little more than two months.

But the doctors said there has been no recurrence of the irregularities in heart rhythm that gravely threatened Eisenhower's life for eight days after the last heart attack Aug. 16.

Committee counsel John Holleman's comment to newsman Friday capped the first day of reopened hearings into Fortas' nomination and came as the subject was escalating as a presidential campaign issue.

Holleman said Undersecretary of the Treasury Joseph W. Barr and White House aide Devier Pierson had informed him

"they are awaiting instructions" before agreeing to testify on Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren as chief justice.

Unless they agree to testify, Holleman said, they probably will be subpoenaed under authority granted by the committee earlier in the week.

Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford also has not replied to an invitation to testify. Clifford was not affected by the earlier subpoena decision.

The testimony of the trio of administration officials is being sought to clear up charges by Senate opponents that Fortas, since becoming a Supreme Court justice in 1965, had a hand in drafting legislation and a Johnson State of the Union speech.

Fortas himself has declined to return for what he termed more "interrogation" on his disputed nomination, to be voted on Tuesday by the 17-member committee.

In a letter Friday to Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., Fortas said he believed "my proper course of action is respectfully to decline to appear again."

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark defended Fortas' position in a speech Friday night, saying opposition to him was based on politics and a desire to roll back civil rights.

In related developments, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Democratic presidential candidate accused his Republican opponent, Richard M. Nixon, of collaborating with Southerners to block Fortas confirmation.

Humphrey called on Nixon to come out in support of Fortas.

Nixon rejected the Humphrey charge saying "there is absolutely no truth" in it.

He added that he neither opposes nor supports Fortas, that the matter is "in the hands of the Senate."

The committee's new round of hearings is to be resumed Monday with Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., the only witness definitely scheduled to testify.

Allott has said that Fortas participated in the drafting this year of an appropriations bill amendment providing for Secret Service protection for presidential candidates.

In its hearings that got underway shortly after Fortas declined to appear, the committee received testimony that:

—Fortas was paid $15,000, from private, tax-exempt donations solicited by his former law partner, Paul A. Porter, for teaching a once-a-week summer law course at American University here.

—The sale and open distribution of pornographic materials have mushroomed under Supreme Court decisions in obscenity cases in which Fortas joined.

B. J. Tennery, dean of the university's law school, told about the amount and the source of the payment to Fortas as a lecturer in a new course on Law and the Social Environment.

He testified that altogether $30,000 was raised to launch the nine-week summer course this year and that the funds were secured by Porter from five business and financial leaders.

There is nothing illegal about Fortas accepting such a task or getting paid for it.

Gen. Keith Ware
Dies In Flaming
Copter Crash

SAIGON (AP) — Keith L. Ware, who rose from draftee to major general and won the nation's highest combat medal for bravery, died Friday in a flaming helicopter crash.

Ware, 52, commander of the 1st Infantry Division since March, flew out to monitor the progress of his men as they chased North Vietnamese troops in a running battle that had begun the day before on a rubber plantation near Loc Ninh. His men had killed 167 of the enemy in the two-day battle.

Military spokesmen said it was not immediately known whether it was enemy fire that caused Ware's helicopter to crash seven miles south of the Cambodian border and three miles southeast of Loc Ninh.

All eight men aboard were killed, including three members of Ware's staff and four crew members. Names of the others were withheld pending notification of next of kin. All the bodies were recovered.

Ware, formerly Army chief of information at the Pentagon, arrived in Vietnam in December and commanded Saigon's defenses during the enemy's lunar new year offensive beginning Jan. 31.

He was the fifth U.S. general to die in the Vietnam war and the second allied general killed in the last week. South Vietnamese Brig. Gen. Truong Quang An, 35, was killed Sunday when enemy gunners shot down his helicopter, also near the Cambodian border.

Toledo Hit By Negro Outbreak

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Police equipped with riot gear—helmets and night sticks—marched into a predominantly Negro area on the city's South Side early today and broke up youthful gangs which went on a window breaking and looting rampage.

About a dozen arrests were made, police said.

About 30 policemen divided into two groups and marched down the sidewalks in a show of force to put down the disturbance which broke out around midnight.

Police reported that about 500 Negro youths went on a rampage in the area and broke several windows and looted some stores.

About 125 policemen were on duty early today after the day-side shift was called in late Friday night to help beef up patrols in the area.

Police set up a command post in a fire house.

No firebombings were reported but police said a couple of minor fires were set.

Wallace Hits Demos, GOP

Say Both Can't Run Country

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — George C. Wallace, the third-party presidential candidate, says Democratic and Republican leaders have proved incapable of running the country.

Wallace told a rally Friday night that in the past 50 years the United States has engaged in four wars, has witnessed a "complete breakdown of law and order" and has tried in vain to find "complicated, complex solutions to simple problems."

Wallace turned his campaign southward again today with speeches scheduled first at Lexington, Ky. and then at Columbia, S.C., and Albany, Ga., before returning home Sunday.

Wallace's American Independent party campaign headquarters in Montgomery said Friday he is expected to meet requirements for the November ballot in Vermont, Wisconsin and New Hampshire next week.

Ed Ewing, a Wallace national campaign coordinator, said he is certain the Supreme Court will put him on the ballot in Ohio, giving voters in all 50 states a chance to vote for Wallace. Ewing said only voters in Washington, D.C., where the deadline passed during the early stages of the campaign, will be unable to cast votes for Wallace.

The crowd of 2,500 in the Charleston City Auditorium Friday night interrupted Wallace's 40-minute speech 60 times with applause.

The Federal Communications Commission, which regulates the broadcast industry, cited coverage both of the police clashes with protesters and the debate over the war in Vietnam in asking the networks for a reply on the complaints.

The networks and news publications sent their request to President Johnson's commission on violence. The panel, formed after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, already has announced plans to investigate the Chicago disorders.

Common Pleas Court had set a minimum price of $2.5 million with a $100,000 deposit, and Friday was the deadline for receiving bids. No bid was submitted which met the court requirements.

Gov. Rhodes, Rep. Harsha To Speak At Dam Dedication

The dedication ceremony for the new Deer Creek Reservoir will be distinguished by the presence of Governor James A. Rhodes and U. S. Representative William H. Harsha. Both dignitaries will speak during the ceremony, which is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sept. 21, at the reservoir site.

The dedication committee notes that the public is invited and that plenty of space and parking is available for everyone. Fred E. Morr, Director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, will be master of ceremonies for the event.

Both Governor Rhodes and

Representative Harsha have taken an active interest in the development of the Deer Creek Reservoir, which is a $20.5 million project constructed by The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Huntington District.

Recreational facilities at the 1,277 acre lake are being developed by the Corps and the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. Governor Rhodes' interest in the project is a tribute to his dedication to the development of Ohio's water resources and state parks, which is unparalleled in Ohio's history.

REPRESENTATIVE Harsha worked for the appropriations bill for Deer Creek in the House of Representatives, which is, of course, responsible for initiating all money bills. The ceremony will be one of his last appearances as Representative for Pickaway County. Due to redistricting, Pickaway County will become part of the 15th Congressional district effective Jan. 1, 1969.

As announced earlier this week, General Charles C. Noble, Director of Civil Works for the Corps of Engineers, will give the main address at the dedication ceremony.

The dedication event is sponsored by the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, with the cooperation and assistance of the Washington C. H. and Mount Sterling chambers, along with leading citizens of New Holland and Williamsport. The tri-county committee is under the general direction of Chairman Wayne E. Smith, Circleville, and county coordinators Robert E. Wilson, president of the Circleville chamber; David C. Six, president of the Washington C. H. chamber; and Jay D. Joslin, president of the Mount Sterling chamber.

Move Blunts Expected Drive By Commies

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces, supported by tanks and naval gunfire, thrust into the southern half of the demilitarized zone Friday and reported killing 158 enemy soldiers in heavily fortified positions.

Allied casualties in the DMZ assault were four killed and 46 wounded, spokesmen said. All of the dead and about half the wounded were South Vietnamese.

Military spokesmen said the assault was a spoiling action designed to blunt an expected drive south by two North Vietnamese divisions. It also was meant to relieve enemy pressure on allied outposts in the northern provinces of South Vietnam.

The DMZ, which extends about three miles on each side of the North-South Vietnamese border, was created at the Geneva Convention in 1954 to serve as a neutral buffer zone. But the North Vietnamese have used it as a sanctuary for their troops menacing northern allied outposts.

Friday's assault was the fourth major allied drive into the South Vietnamese half of the zone, although there have been a number of reconnaissance patrols into the area.

The first announced allied thrust into the zone came in May 1967, when U.S. Marines moved in for five days.

The last thrust into the DMZ came a month ago when U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen backed by armored columns killed 234 North Vietnamese troops in the same general area.

A U.S. spokesman said Friday's operation marked the first time "a combined force like this with Army, Marines and South Vietnamese and the joint supporting fires" had made such an assault.

POLICEMAN Jack Mills came to the rescue of Betty Stout, who lost her purse and its contents from her perch in the grandstand at the Circleville-Teays Valley football game.

After searching a few more minutes, he found the purse ... Apparently everything was recovered except a lipstick.

Israeli, Jordan Forces Clash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli and Jordanian forces fought another clash before dawn today in the Beisan Valley, the Israeli army reported.

In Jordan, King Hussein told his nation Friday night the military equipment lost to the Israelis in the 1967 war was being replaced with modern weapons, including antiaircraft missiles.

He said arms are coming from the United States and other Western nations. He did not elaborate.

The reported clash in the Beisan Valley 20 miles south of the Sea of Galilee was the second in two days.

Nixon Slates Appearance At Cleveland Mass Rally

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Richard M. Nixon goes in search of the crowds today with a mass rally at a suburban shopping center which local Republican party officials hoped would attract 50,000 persons.

To set the mood before the GOP presidential candidate arrived at the rally at about 11:00 a.m. television western star Jim Drury was scheduled to appear at the Westgate Shopping center riding in a stagecoach.

There were to be Dixieland and high school bands and a display by the Red Eagle Sky diving team before Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio introduced Nixon to the crowds.

After the rally Nixon was scheduled to go straight to Cleveland Hopkins International Airport for a flight to Des Moines, Iowa, where he said he would deliver a major farm address.

Nixon arrived in Cleveland late Friday afternoon from Indianapolis and went straight to a downtown hotel confining his only public appearance to a one-hour state wide television question and answer program which cost the GOP approximately $30,000.

Putting the questions were Euclid businessman Carmen Mazzocchi; Mrs. Chris Cook, a housewife; Richard Maher, a political journalist; attorney Lawrence Lskroner and Frank Kelker, a Negro YMCA director all of Cleveland, and Everett Denney, a Columbus farm manager.

Gov. Rhodes, Rep. Harsha To Speak At Dam Dedication

The dedication ceremony for the new Deer Creek Reservoir will be distinguished by the presence of Governor James A. Rhodes and U. S. Representative William H. Harsha. Both dignitaries will speak during the ceremony, which is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sept. 21, at the reservoir site.

The dedication committee notes that the public is invited and that plenty of space and parking is available for everyone. Fred E. Morr, Director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, will be master of ceremonies for the event.

Both Governor Rhodes and

Representative Harsha have taken an active interest in the development of the Deer Creek Reservoir, which is a $20.5 million project constructed by The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Huntington District.

Recreational facilities at the 1,277 acre lake are being developed by the Corps and the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. Governor Rhodes' interest in the project is a tribute to his dedication to the development of Ohio's water resources and state parks, which is unparalleled in Ohio's history.

REPRESENTATIVE Harsha worked for the appropriations bill for Deer Creek in the House of Representatives, which is, of course, responsible for initiating all money bills. The ceremony will be one of his last appearances as Representative for Pickaway County. Due to redistricting, Pickaway County will become part of the 15th Congressional district effective Jan. 1, 1969.

As announced earlier this week, General Charles C. Noble, Director of Civil Works for the Corps of Engineers, will give the main address at the dedication ceremony.

The dedication event is sponsored by the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, with the cooperation and assistance of the Washington C. H. and Mount Sterling chambers, along with leading citizens of New Holland and Williamsport. The tri-county committee is under the general direction of Chairman Wayne E. Smith, Circleville, and county coordinators Robert E. Wilson, president of the Circleville chamber; David C. Six, president of the Washington C. H. chamber; and Jay D. Joslin, president of the Mount Sterling chamber.

Move Blunts Expected Drive By Commies

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces, supported by tanks and naval gunfire, thrust into the southern half of the demilitarized zone Friday and reported killing 158 enemy soldiers in heavily fortified positions.

Allied casualties in the DMZ assault were four killed and 45 wounded, spokesmen said. All of the dead and about half the wounded were South Vietnamese.

Military spokesmen said the assault was a spoiling action designed to blunt an expected drive south by two North Vietnamese divisions. It also was meant to relieve enemy pressure on allied outposts in the northern provinces of South Vietnam.

The DMZ, which extends about three miles on each side of the North-South Vietnamese border, was created at the Geneva Convention in 1954 to serve as a neutral buffer zone. But the North Vietnamese have used it as a sanctuary for their troops menacing northern allied outposts.

Friday's assault was the fourth major allied drive into the South Vietnamese half of the zone, although there have been a number of reconnaissance patrols into the area.

The first announced allied thrust into the zone came in May 1967, when U.S. Marines moved in for five days.

The last thrust into the DMZ came a month ago when U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen backed by armored columns killed 234 North Vietnamese troops in the same general area.

A U.S. spokesman said Friday's operation marked the first time "a combined force like this with Army, Marines and South Vietnamese and the joint supporting fires" had made such an assault.

Israeli, Jordan Forces Clash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Israeli and Jordanian forces fought another clash before dawn today in the Beisan Valley, the Israeli army reported.

In Jordan, King Hussein told his nation Friday night the military equipment lost to the Israelis in the 1967 war was being replaced with modern weapons, including anti-aircraft missiles. He said arms are coming from the United States and other Western nations. He did not elaborate.

The reported clash in the Beisan Valley 20 miles south of the Sea of Galilee was the second in two days.

Nomination Of Fortas Becomes Issue In Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee's counsel says two administration officials probably will be subpoenaed if they refuse to testify voluntarily about charges Abe Fortas reportedly performed for President Johnson while a Supreme Court justice.

Committee counsel John Holloman's comment to newsmen Friday capped the first day of reopened hearings into Fortas' nomination and came as the subject was escalating as a presidential campaign issue.

Holloman said Undersecretary of the Treasury Joseph W. Barr and White House aide Devier Pierson had informed him

"they are awaiting instructions" before agreeing to testify on Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren as chief justice.

Unless they agree to testify, Holloman said, they probably will be subpoenaed under authority granted by the committee earlier in the week.

Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford also has not replied to an invitation to testify. Clifford was not affected by the earlier subpoena decision.

The testimony of the trio of administration officials is being sought to clear up charges by Senate opponents that Fortas, since becoming a Supreme Court justice in 1965, had a hand in drafting legislation and a Johnson State of the Union speech.

Fortas himself has declined to return for what he termed more "interrogation" on his disputed nomination, to be voted on Tuesday by the 17-member committee.

In a letter Friday to Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., Fortas said he believed "my proper course of action is respectfully to decline to appear again."

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark defended Fortas' position in a speech Friday night, saying opposition to him was based on politics and a desire to roll back civil rights.

In related developments, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Democratic presidential candidate accused his Republican opponent, Richard M. Nixon, of collaborating with Southerners to block Fortas confirmation. Humphrey called on Nixon to come out in support of Fortas.

Nixon rejected the Humphrey charge saying "there is absolutely no truth" in it.

He added that he neither opposes nor supports Fortas, that the matter is "in the hands of the Senate."

The committee's new round of hearings is to be resumed Monday with Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., the only witness definitely scheduled to testify.

Allott has said that Fortas participated in the drafting this year of an appropriations bill amendment providing for Secret Service protection for presidential candidates.

In its hearings that got underway shortly after Fortas declined to appear, the committee received testimony that:

—Fortas was paid $15,000, from private, tax-exempt donations solicited by his former law partner, Paul A. Porter, for teaching a once-a-week summer law course at American University here.

—The sale and open distribution of pornographic materials have mushroomed under Supreme Court decisions in obscenity cases in which Fortas joined.

B. J. Tennery, dean of the university's law school, told about the amount and the source of the payment to Fortas as a lecturer in a new course on Law and the Social Environment.

He testified that altogether $30,000 was raised to launch the nine-week summer course this year and that the funds were secured by Porter from five business and financial leaders. There is nothing illegal about Fortas accepting such a task or getting paid for it.

HARVEST EQUIPMENT — Newest models of major equipment companies will be used in demonstrations at this year's Ohio State Farm Science Review, September 17-19. Is there a second baseman in the family? Or a quarterback, center forward or tennis star? Even a muddle-pro? If so, you know that play clothes, gym suits and uniform can be most unrecognizable under layers of ground-in-dirt, grass stains, athletic liniment — even blood! Obviously, strenuous clean-up methods are required to restore these clothes to wearable condition. Try these practical suggestions.

Start by soaking any blood stains in cold water. Then pretreat the dirtiest places. For this, dampen if necessary and work a concentrated solution or thick suds of the same soap or detergent you will use in the washer. Let the clothes "set" for an hour or so.

Unless the washer has a special cycle for extra-dirty clothes, pre-wash the athletic gear for five minutes in warm water with the usual amount of soap or detergent. Drain off the dirty water and proceed with the regular washing cycles, using about a fourth more soap or detergent than usual. If the water is very hard, super-soiler duds benefit from adding a softener to the water during rinsing.

Take special note of the fibers and finishes when laundering active sports garb and team uniforms. Some of them now have a durable press finish, and many fabrics contain synthetic fibers. These are safest in warm water rather than hot water, using oxygen and/or sodium perborate bleach to treat stains. Colorfast cottons, of course, can be laundered in hot water with chlorine bleach added during the suds cycle. For best results, always follow directions on the bleach container.

When they call "batter up" you'll have the satisfaction of knowing your champion is meeting his fans in a uniform that's really clean — at least for a few innings.

There's much to see and do at the 1968 Farm Science Review, but a "must" for homemakers is the special home economics program to be presented daily at the home economics tent. Faculty members form the School of Home Economics at The Ohio State University will turn the "Focus on Families" during these four-half hour programs.

"Up To Date With Food" looks at some of the newest food products on today's market plus special guides for food selection and family meal planning. "Doing Your Homework" is an illustrated outline designed to give you new insight on how to manage and organize the work of a home. The session entitled "Use Your Consumer Power" turns the focus directly to the consumer. It will stress "cues" that help the consumer throughout the shopping process from deciding when to shop to paying for purchases. "Living With Your Preschooler" is a discussion of some important child care questions on expectations, discipline, routines and behavior for better understanding of the young child.

Get "Up To Date In '68" at the Farm Science Review Tuesday through Thursday on Ohio State University farmlands adjacent to Don Scott Field in northwest Franklin County.

Management Is Key In Success Of Legumes

Management of legume meadows during September can mean the difference between success and failure of the crop for next year.

Cutting either new or established meadows after September 15 is not recommended under central and southern Ohio conditions.

In order to survive, legumes must have the time from September 15 until late October to replenish root reserves. If they are cut after mid-September, there is not enough time for the crop to store enough reserves to prevent winter killing.

Root reserves are the carbohydrates manufactured by the plant leaves. After the plant is cut, it takes several weeks for enough re-growth to occur before replacement begins.

DURING this re-growth period reserves are used from the roots and if winter sets in while the plant is in this condition, winter survival changes are seriously reduced.

Cutting legumes after the first of November is usually safe since little or no re-growth occurs at this time of year. If the late cutting is followed by a mild November which encourages growth, then some winter injury can be expected.

Extension Bulletin 413, Harvest Schedules for Ohio Meadow Crops, is available at the County Extension office and gives full details about the importance of harvesting time in relation to the quality hay production.

Farmers Still Have Feeling Of Being Alone

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In many ways farmers today rub shoulders with each other and the rest of society more than they ever have — because of mass communications, good roads, automobiles and the pressures common to everyone. But much of an ancient mystique persists—the preference of a farmer for some sort of solitude, independence or contrariness that made early pioneers move farther west the first time they saw smoke from a neighbor's chimney.

This has been part of the charm and problem of rural life. Despite great strides in organizing farm cooperatives, participating in organization efforts of all types and collectively moving ahead in technology, many farmers still feel alone. Broadly speaking, farmers for generations have suffered from feelings of inferiority that today should be as outmoded as a walking cultivator in a field of corn.

But viewed in perspective, farmers are among the elite in the modern American economy. There are tattered segments, certainly, but put together agriculture today has few peers.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman mentioned in a speech last week a symptom of farming's agony—the apparent apathy among nonfarmers.

One of the department's executives claims he always is the loneliest man at a party, Freeman said.

"When I say agriculture," Freeman quoted the man, "they say 'oh' and walk away."

"I say those who walk away from agriculture ought to have their heads examined," Freeman said.

Farmers Still Have Feeling Of Being Alone

By DON KENDALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — In many ways farmers today rub shoulders with each other and the rest of society more than they ever have — because of mass communications, good roads, automobiles and the pressures common to everyone.

But much of an ancient mystique persists—the preference of a farmer for some sort of solitude, independence or contrariness that made early pioneers move farther west the first time they saw smoke from a neighbor's chimney.

This has been part of the charm and problem of rural life. Despite great strides in organizing farm cooperatives, participating in organization efforts of all types and collectively moving ahead in technology, many farmers still feel alone. Broadly speaking, farmers for generations have suffered from feelings of inferiority that today should be as outmoded as a walking cultivator in a field of corn.

But viewed in perspective, farmers are among the elite in the modern American economy. There are tattered segments, certainly, but put together agriculture today has few peers.

"When I say agriculture," Freeman quoted the man, "they say 'oh' and walk away."

"I say those who walk away from agriculture ought to have their heads examined," Freeman continued.

Freeman quoted a number of statistics, some familiar, some not.

—One farmer today produces enough to feed more than 40 persons, 14 more than just eight years ago.

—Agriculture has more workers than all the makers of cars, trucks and buses, of the entire steel industry and of all the public utilities combined.

—Farming's assets of $273 billion are equal to three-fifths of the market value of all corporation stocks on the New York Stock Exchange.

—Last year American farmers spent $15.4 billion for the products of the oil men, the car makers, the machinery manufacturers, the tire makers, the utilities and the bankers, to name a few.

"No businessman, no factory worker, no financier ought to walk away from a customer like that," Freeman said.

What Freeman did not answer was why, with all this impressive wealth and potential leverage, is the American farmer a mostly fragmented, multivoiced and ineffectual force on the national political and economic scene.

Generations of farm leaders, secretaries of agriculture, politicians and economists have sought and suggested answers. So far none has worked completely.

But it is tempting to suggest — only a bit facetiously — that part of the reason agriculture yields so little force in determining its own affairs is a modern hangup about seeing smoke from a neighbor's chimney, that civilization spells doom.

Cynics may claim that farmers have a death wish, that they can never jell into an effective bargaining force because they unconsciously want to be hard-pressed and in a jam.

This view can't be reconciled with what successful farmers are today: Competent businessmen who want and intend to get a better deal somewhere. The big question is how and when.

Reed Wheat Recommended

September is the time of year that wheat producers begin wondering what variety to use for the coming season.

The recommended varieties for Pickaway County are Fulton, Nonon, Redcoat, and Reed.

Since Ohio is the leading state in the production of soft red wheat and enjoys the reputation for the quality of its crop, it is suggested that only recommended varieties be used.

Flour from soft red wheat is superior for all sorts of pastries. Of the recommended varieties, Reed, a relatively new variety that has no serious weakness, ranks highest in producing ability and test weight.

Monon has been a real popular variety, with the shortest straw and earliest maturity date. It has slightly lower yields, but its earliness makes it appealing in most cases.

Redcoat is a moderately early wheat but it is several days later than Monon and has more straw. Redcoat has shown some winter damage, but apparently recovers satisfactorily. It shatters badly some season, but stands very well.

Fulton produces the most straw, but it is not recommended to follow corn, because of some scab susceptibility that it carries.

The county extension office will have available, quantities of the recommended varieties for making comparison seedings. Any farmer that would like to make a comparison seeding should contact the office.

Soviet Strength Up In Europe

50 Divisions Said Deployed

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say intelligence reports indicate the Soviet Union has built up its army in Eastern Europe to more than 50 divisions, about twice the number maintained by the West on the other side of the Iron Curtain.

While the Soviet divisions are said to be in a very high state of readiness, some NATO divisions are below strength and lacking in sustained logistics support, by U.S. standards.

U.S. intelligence reports, charting Soviet moves connected with the occupation of Czechoslovakia, have sparked deep concern that the balance of power in Eastern and Central Europe has shifted against the West.

Officials stress they are talking about the threat in terms of Soviet capability rather than any Russian intent to attack.

Before the Russians led a Warsaw Pact invasion of Czechoslovakia on Aug. 20, the Soviet Union maintained 20 divisions in East Germany, two in Poland and four in Hungary.

NATO nations arrayed a total of 24 divisions in and near West Germany. France, no longer part of NATO, nonetheless contributed to Western military strength with two divisions in West Germany.

While the figures vary from nation to nation, a Soviet division contains about 10,000 men. An American division has about 15,000 men, exclusive of support troops.

Some of the Russian divisions invading Czechoslovakia came from East Germany and Poland, others from the Soviet Union itself.

According to the latest U.S. intelligence analysis, Russia now has 17 divisions in Czechoslovakia where there were none before the invasion.

Six of these divisions are deployed within striking distance of the Czech-West German border, which until Soviet occupation was manned only by Czech guards.

U.S. military authorities say the Russians are now astride a main avenue of approach to such important German cities as Munich and Nuremberg.

Ten Russian divisions have been stationed in Poland, where only two were placed before Aug. 20.

Meanwhile, Russian divisions also have been shipped to East Germany to restore the 20-division force which the Soviet Union has kept in that satellite for many years.

In addition to the forward movement of perhaps 26 or 27 Russian divisions from the Soviet Union, U.S. intelligence has learned that some of the supporting divisions well back inside Russia have been brought up to full strength.

Normally, many of these rear area divisions are staffed at less than war level strength.

Still another measure which U.S. intelligence noted with concern was mobilization of Russian supply and other support services reaching back into the Soviet Union—a necessary action to support a major forward deployment of the army.

Ashbrook To Pay Maryland Taxes
ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, has reluctantly agreed to pay delinquent Maryland income taxes following the filing of a suit to force him to pay $490.88.

Ashbrook, who lives in Montgomery County, Maryland, near Washington, said last year his legal residence was in the jurisdiction from which he was elected and he therefore should not have to pay Maryland taxes.

Ashbrook's home is in Johnstown, Ohio.

Welder Is Saved From River Grave
WOLCOTT, Kan. (AP)—Clarence Hadley saw an acetylene hose unwinding and slipping from a barge into the Missouri River.

He ran to retrieve the equipment. It became taut and he and a fellow employee hauled it up along with the attached unconscious body of Neal Thomas, a welder.

Thomas, 47, of Salina, Kan., was one of a crew that had been making repairs on barges. He had struck his head and fallen overboard. He was taken to a hospital for observation.

Locomotive Model Reported Found
BOSTON (AP) — An 18-inch gold and silver model locomotive stolen from the Museum of Science June 21 has been recovered in a locker at North Station.

Police, who found the model Thursday after receiving an anonymous telephone call, said museum officials consider it priceless.

Built in 1872, it is described as a working replica of the Roger Williams locomotive, the first engine to draw a train between Boston and Stonington, Conn., on the old Boston and Providence Railroad.

Regents Eye Financial Aid To Negroes

By KEITH KAPPE
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Massive financial aid to Negro collegians and grievance procedures for students were proposed Friday to the Ohio Board of Regents.

Chancellor John D. Millett said the 12 state universities had been urged to create individual systems for processing student complaints.

If such procedures do not materialize, the regents will propose a standardized statewide program to combat campus unrest, Millett added.

Dr. Millett said he had "reasonable cause to believe certain Ohio campuses had been selected as targets this year of "certain student activist groups."

He declined to identify the groups or the schools.

The Negro aid program would be a "substantial" expansion of the board's current $500,000 appropriation for tuition, and counseling assistance.

Millett said the program probably would be expanded to involve perhaps $2 million annually.

He said that details on the proposal would be discussed here Sept. 23 when he meets with administrators of the state universities.

Millett said the Negro assistance project was one of "the greatest urgency."

In other action, the regents learned that Cleveland State University is seeking to create a legal education program by absorbing the Marshall School of Law. The application will be aired at the board's October meeting.

At Millett's request, the board authorized expenditures of $15,000 for educational television studies at Kent State University, the University of Akron, and Youngstown State University; 10,000 for a study of location and curriculum of the state's second school of library science.

He also was directed to retain consultants which will advise university administrators in employee relations with labor unions. No cost ceiling was set.

The board approved creation of a Tri-County Technical Institute at Mansfield involving Ashland, Crawford and Richland counties.

The appointment of Duane R. Rogers as systems officer on Millett's staff also was approved. His salary will be $15,600 annually.

Five universities were authorized $723,863 in capital improvement funds already released by the state controlling board. They were Ohio State University, $111,794 for land purchases and building repairs; Kent State University, $31,450 for equipment and architectural fees; and Ohio University, $1,136 for land purchase at its Portsmouth branch.

The board endorsed State Issue No. 1, a $750 million bond issue for capital improvements, which includes $100 million for higher education. The issue will appear on the November ballot.

Birth Control Showdown In Washington Day Away

By WILLARD H. MOBLEY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The conflict between Washington's Roman Catholic officialdom and a group of priests over the right of church members to use artificial birth controls appears headed for a showdown with a settlement deadline only one day away.

On its face, the dispute involves only Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle and 51 priests within the Washington diocese who disagree publicly with Pope Paul VI's edict against the use of mechanical contraceptives.

But the split mirrors a church-wide division over whether Catholics are bound by the Vatican edict or, the priests maintain, can ignore the pronouncement on the grounds that birth control is a matter of personal conscience.

Here is the setting: The 51 priests and some theologians adopted a statement holding that Catholic couples may responsibly decide according to their consciences that artificial contraception is permissible in some circumstances.

The cardinal directed them to give up that stand and accept the Pope's ruling fully. He gave them until Saturday to recant and mentioned the possibility of canonical penalties for those who do not.

As if to emphasize his point the cardinal dismissed the Rev. T. Joseph O'Donoghue as assistant pastor of a Washington church for delivering a sermon Aug. 4 quoting high church officials who disagree with the encyclical.

In another action the trustees of Catholic University asked last week that a panel be appointed to investigate whether 18 teachers have violated their responsibility to the university by publicly dissenting on the issue.

Neither side has budged and nothing was settled in a two-hour closed-door session Tuesday.

Find Fortas Took $15,000 For Summer Seminar Work
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee, turned down by Justice Abe Fortas on a request that he testify further, received testimony today that Fortas was paid $15,000 for teaching a nine-week summer law course.

The funds, it developed, were raised from tax-deductible contributions solicited by his former law partner, Paul A. Porter.

The testimony was given by Dean B. J. Tenny of the American University Law School at reopened hearings for which Fortas declined to appear for new questioning on his nomination to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Fortas, a member of the court since 1965, sent Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., a letter respectfully declining to return for questioning shortly before the start of today's hearing.

Tenny, the first witness, said that Fortas had taught this summer a seminar on law and the social environment at the law school under a new program designed to provide a broader education for a selected group of students.

There is nothing illegal about such teaching, but Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, asked Tenny if he felt a Supreme Court justice "should hire himself out" for services for pay.

The law school dean replied, "Yes, in terms of what he did for us."

Tenny said that it is "by no means rare" for a sitting justice to teach in a law school.

The dean said the $30,000 was raised to finance the course after Fortas "indicated he might be interested" in teaching. First explaining that it was not "normal policy" for the university to reveal the names of donors, Tenny said these five men contributed:

Gustave L. Levy of New York City, Troy Post of Dallas, Maurice Lazarus of Boston, John Loeb of New York City and Paul D. Smith of New York City.

CRAZY TOP — Pickaway County Agricultural Agent George Hamrick inspects a stalk of corn infected with downy mildew or "crazy top". The disease is prevalent in the county this year. The disease occurs only where soil becomes flooded or water-logged sometime between germination of the corn and when the seedlings are six to 10 inches tall. Instead of a tassel, there is a bushy mass of small leaves. No pollen is produced and ear formation is curtailed.

Feed Grain Production Expands From Heartlands

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The areas which produce the most livestock feed grains traditionally turn out the most fat cattle for the nation's slaughter market.

This has been true about the corn belt of the upper Midwest. But the feed grain production has been expanded far beyond the Iowa-Illinois heartland and cattle feeding now is important to many areas that a few years ago had to ship stock hundreds of miles to be fattened.

A recent study by the Agriculture Department shows nearly all of the nation's fat cattle come from the same 39 states that produce most of the feed grains.

Last year these states marketed about 22 million fat cattle, twice as many as in 1955, the department said.

Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota marketed 7.1 million; Nebraska and Kansas 4.4 million; Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Colorado 3.6 million; California, Arizona and Nevada 2.8 million; Washington, Oregon, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and Utah 1.4 million; Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania 1.3 million; North Dakota and South Dakota 757,000 and the 11 South-eastern states, plus Maryland and New York 795,000.

These states were grouped according to similar livestock economies, the department said. John T. Larsen of the department's economic research service said the production of sorghum grain the Great Plains and the Southwest has contributed greatly to rapid expansion of feeding in those areas.

"There are other factors, of course," Larsen said, "such as decentralization of the meat packing industry, transportation and the supply of feeder cattle."

"But," he said, "the main reason is the big demand for beef. With more money to spend, people seem to want more meat."

The biggest expansion has been in Kansas and Nebraska—12 per cent a year from 1955 to 1967.

But the western corn belt area of Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin and Minnesota produces one-third of the feed cattle. Still the department said, this is less than the 40 per cent share in 1955.

Iowa remains as the leading fat-cattle state, producing almost 20 per cent of the total in the nation.

A spokesman for the dissenters reported there was only "discussion" and the priests were "notable to judge what he (O'Boyle) might do."

Later the Rev. Mr. O'Donoghue, addressing a meeting of supporters, said it was up to them to band together to protect their viewpoint. He suggested, that "even Cardinal O'Boyle can be reached by a petition."

One of his former parishioners said he had collected 353 signatures during masses protesting "unjust punishment" of O'Donoghue.

The cardinal followed up on Wednesday with release of a sternly worded statement saying he condemns as "erroneous, scandalous and offensive to faithful Catholics" the voices of dissent from the Pope's ruling.

Summery Weather Continues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mild, summery weather favored wide areas of the country today while the Northwest and the Northeast were cooled by a hint of autumn temperatures.

The mercury fell to 43 degrees at Watertown, N.Y., before dawn and readings in the 40s and 50s extended into New England.

Cool air bearing down on the Pacific Coast triggered rain inland as far as the northern Rockies.

For the vast interior section of the country, however, it was another pleasant late-summer menu — abundant clear skies, overnight temperatures generally in the 60s and indications of another day in the 70s and 80s.

Outside the rain dampening the Pacific Northwest, shower activity was confined to parts of Texas and Florida. Rainfall amounts were mostly on the light side.

Some early morning reports: Boston 59 partly cloudy, New York 62 clear, Philadelphia 51 clear, Washington 64 clear, Atlanta 62 clear, Miami 76 cloudy, Detroit 61 clear, Chicago 64 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 67 partly cloudy, St. Louis 60 clear, Kansas City 67 clear, Dallas 70 cloudy, Denver 61 clear, Phoenix 87 partly cloudy, Los Angeles 67 cloudy, San Francisco 64 cloudy, Seattle 58 cloudy, Anchorage 52 partly cloudy, Honolulu 77 clear.

Evolution of Bands

The blare of the band splits the night air. A drum major starts his strut and a flock of pretty girls commences to prance.

Then the musicians march forward in perfect alignment and there are dozens of them. The football season has arrived.

The heroes are ready to make gridiron history but they are but a part of the show. The band is important and it usually is drilled to perfection.

With unified schools, bands are bigger and better. All kinds of formations and stunts are included to make the half-time spectacle a success.

University and college bands are more spectacular. And they have come a long way from the time they wore conservative blue uniforms and caps. Now they may appear in any color of the rainbow, their fanciful garb dreamed up by an imaginative genius.

High school bands not only provide music for the school, but they play at many civic events. They have replaced the town band in many a community.

Turn back a few decades and read: "Wanted: Blacksmith who can play a baritone horn."

"Wanted: Barber able to play a trombone."

Translated into English, such classified ads meant that a town's band lacked certain bandmen. To meet such a crisis, it was customary to canvass the town to ascertain what openings were available.

The blacksmith or barber who answered the ad got nothing for playing a horn, but he did get a job or the privilege of opening a shop in a town without competition.

The leader of the town band invariably played the cornet. He fingered with one hand and waved the other to control his musicians. A baritone player was a necessity, as was the man on the bass drum. The snare drummer sometimes was a boy.

The trombone, tuba, alto, tenor and clarinet figured prominently. Now and then there would be a flute, fife, or triangle in evidence.

The smallest musician usually handled the tuba and the biggest the flute.

All that is gone now for the youngsters do the job. The mechanic who can play the tuba must get his job by mechanical skill.

Try and Stop Me

ABEL GREEN, top banana at Variety, bible of show biz, detects a distinct French influence in Tin Pan Alley. Examples: "Matisse This Thing Called Love?" "I'm Always Chasing Risbauds," "When Derrain Goes a Pitter-Patter," "Picasso Love You," and "Roualt, Roualt Your Boat." Of course, Spain can always counter with "Hello, Dali."

The late Billy Rose, self-styled "Bantam Barnum," takes quite a beating in Earl Conrad's biography, "Manhattan Primitive." An incurable chiseler, Rose refused to pay a bill for $186,000 to builders of a large part of his famous Aquacade, though this was exactly the sum agreed upon in advance. The builders finally learned how to placate their pathological client. They reduced the $186,000 bill by one dollar and seventy-six cents—and Rose's check was thereupon forthcoming!

A gob came home after a long, long hitch aboard a carrier and brought his wife a souvenir: one of those three-master schooners in a bottle. "How do they squeeze the boat in?" wondered his wife. "If you think that's hard," signed the gob, "you ought to try to squeeze a bottle into a battleship."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Angina pectoris is the term that refers to the pain and suffocation associated with some types of heart disease. The sense of oppression, with a radiating pain down the arm, incapacitates the patient emotionally and physically.

A new drug, Propranolol, has been used most effectively for the relief of severe anginal pain and has brought renewed health, happiness, and productivity to many who might otherwise have lived totally restricted lives.

At the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston this same drug has been found to have other great advantages in addition to the relief of pain. Dr. Ezra Amsterdam and his co-workers have released the information that this drug has increased the survival rate of patients with some types of coronary artery heart disease.

The early trials are so important that the drug is now being used in other hospitals in order to try to substantiate these excellent results.

Despite the fact that the exact way in which the drug acts is not yet known, the results of this study will continue purely on a clinical basis.

This drug will, of course, be completely cleared for safety and side-effects before it is released for general use. It holds great promise.

Many readers have wanted to know more about a substance called Interferon about which I had written some time ago. This is a protein which is produced by the cells of the body when they are invaded by a virus.

The brilliance of this discovery is that it opens up tremendous possibilities for the eventual control and cure of virus diseases. In fact, it is hoped that Interferon may yet be the answer to the common cold which so far has eluded the greatest concentration of scientific study.

It is almost ten years since Dr. Alick Isaacs and Dr. J. Nindenmann made this discovery while working in a laboratory in London, England. The essence of the discovery is that Interferon, produced by cells infected with a virus, is able to protect other cells from a similar virus infection.

The protection of the cells can be expanded to the protection of tissues and organs from the invasion by viruses that cause severe infections.

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLEV (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Dame Fashion refuses to behave like a lady, but she does act like a spoiled girl—contrary, demanding, unpredictable.

She's completely inconsistent. First she decrees that sunglasses must be almost bigger than the face behind them, and then she provides a purse to carry them in too small for any eyegear except contact lenses.

Each time she mandates a new mode—needlepointed shoes more suited for weapons than wearing, footwear as squared-off as a beak of a duckbill platypus, or clumpy types a podiatrist would hesitate to prescribe even when necessary—I vow they are not for me.

By the time I finally succumb to her dictates my new shoe style has been replaced by something even more unflattering and again I'm out of step and out of style.

If I could only learn to dispose of my clothes the moment they fall from fashion I would be spared a good deal of frustration. The way I operate is to save them for years, deciding each time I attempt to make the final sacrifice that they are too good to discard. Finally, in a clean sweep of the closet, out they go. The next season, in they come—back in style.

Through the long period of the sack and shift I steadfastly refused to give up my collection of wide leather belts. At last, convinced that the waistline had gone the way of the dinosaur, I parted with them with all due ceremony. Now belts are again de rigueur and I've had to buy a whole new supply.

But I did get the best of that fickle female in one case. When my daughter was getting set to enter junior high school a number of years back, she decided to invest her entire clothes allowance in a few good skirts, although I pointed out that it was an uneconomic move since she would soon outgrow them.

Time and tide of fashion proved me wrong. As she shot up, so did the length of skirts. Each year, as her height became maxier and maxier, skirts became minier and minier. She was still in business with her original stock.

This fall, before leaving for school, she tried them on and declared they were all too long for campus wear.

However, these ancient skirts of hers are still in use. This year they're just the right length for me.

Hal Boyle is on vacation.

SUICIDE—Ignoring pleas of would-be rescuers, including a fireman (top), Raimundo Calunda Mora, 31, a former Brazilian paratrooper, plunges to his death from a seventh-floor ledge of a building in downtown Sao Paulo. Police later said the man had been dismissed from the air force because of mental illness.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Saturday, Sept. 14, the 258th day of 1968. There are 108 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1901, President William McKinley died in Buffalo, N.Y., from wounds suffered eight days earlier at the hands of an anarchist.

On this date: In 1778, Benjamin Franklin was sent to France as American minister plenipotentiary. In 1812, Napoleon entered the city of Moscow as a conqueror. In 1814, the words of the "Star Spangled Banner" were written by Francis Scott Key while a prisoner on the British warship Supreme.

In 1923, Jack Dempsey knocked out Luis Angel Firpo in two rounds of a heavyweight championship fight in New York City.

In 1940, Congress passed the Selective Service and Training Act.

In 1945, the premier of Japan made a peace overture to the American public, saying: "Won't you forget Pearl Harbor?"

Ten years ago — The derailment of a mountain cog train near Bonn, Germany, killed 17 persons.

Five years ago—Quintuplets were born to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer in Aberdeen, S.D.

One year ago — President Johnson lashed out at those who lead violence in the nation, calling them "wretched, vulgar men."

Arrest Camper As Army AWOL

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP) — State police say that Russell R. Roberts, 19, of Detroit, was camping near Cheboygan in a pup tent and sleeping bag when he was arrested Thursday for being absent without leave from the Army.

Officers said Roberts was jailed to await the arrival of military authorities from Ft. Knox, Ky.

Turning to foreign policy, Rusk attempted to clear up what he termed "misconceptions which surround the great issues of our period."

Charges that the United States reached an "understanding" with the Soviet Union regarding the invasion of Czechoslovakia, Rusk said, are "absurd accusations without a shred of truth."

He said there was little the U.S. could have done by force to aid the Czechs "without automatically engaging in a war with the Soviet Union."

Rusk said the U.S. has no interest in establishing spheres of influence because they are "not consistent with maintaining world peace."

Movie Brings Gripes

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "We haven't even made the movie yet, and already we're being blasted from the left and from the right," said director Richard Fleischer with a faint air of amusement.

He plans to start shooting this month on a controversial film for 20th Century - Fox called "Che." The subject covers the life and violent times of Che Guevara, partner in Fidel Castro's Cuban revolution and would-be revolutionist in Bolivia, where he met his end in October 1967.

Portraying the guerrilla will be Egypt-born Omar Sharif, who bears a remarkable resemblance when equipped with moustache, beard and fighting gear. The film will begin in mid-month at the 20th-Fox ranch in Malibu, then transfer to Puerto Rico for exterior scenes until mid-December.

Director Fleischer ("Fantastic Voyage," "Dr. Doolittle") has prepared himself for a rugged film, both during and after the shooting. "Che" has already been attacked by editorialists who see the film as a glorification of a revolutionist and by new-leftists who suspect the film will defile their idol.

"It amazes me that people should pre-judge a movie before we even make it," remarked the director. "How can they possibly know what kind of an approach we will take?"

The picture will not be based on the Che diaries, which have been published after the inception of the project. The script has been based on the research of producer Sy Bartlett from printed sources.

"We will show Che not as a hero, but as an interesting man, one of the great personalities of our time," Fleischer said. "He believed that no change could come about without violent, bloody revolution. When the Russians dropped that as part of their philosophy, he became an advocate of the Red Chinese, and he went on a rampage to demonstrate his theories."

"His philosophy that violence is the only means to accomplish change is a very 'now' issue. That's what I think will give our picture immediacy."

"But of course when you come to the end of a picture, you should make a statement. Che obviously didn't achieve his purpose in Bolivia; he discovered that you can't export revolution. He was killed, and our picture will show that violence is not the only answer. Ends do not justify the means, not all the time."

"Che" will cover the period from Castro's invasion of Cuba in 1957 to Guevara's death 10 years later. Several real-life figures will be portrayed, including Fidel Castro.

How do the film makers get away with portraying living persons without their permission? "We're just doing it," said the director. "Castro will have to come to this country to sue us, and I doubt if he would do that. I don't expect we'll be playing 'Che' in Cuba, although they might acquire a print of it—so they can shoot at the screen."

NEW YORK (AP) — At least two well known economic consultants to large corporations here are about to release bullish reports on prospects for the economy in 1969.

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt
Central Press Writer

Two 15-year-olds, after seasawing for 100 hours discovered they had failed to tie the world's teeter-totter record by 60 minutes. Those kids have found out early that life can be full of ups and downs.

Two or three stars are born in the Milky Way each year—science item. Now, don't tell us our galaxy, too, is having a population explosion!

It costs U.S. taxpayers $500 million annually to remove litter from streets and public property — Factographs. Gosh! — the money we throw away!

Alleging that chunks of plaster from the ceiling of the courtroom in the New Delhi, India, High Court kept dropping onto their nogginns, lawyers staged a walkout. That made it the judge's turn to have a headache.

Castro wants Cubans to raise their sugar production to 10 million tons by 1970. Bet they'll have a sweet time trying to do it.

A giraffe has fewer bones in its neck than a bird does — nature item. However, they ARE a trifle bigger!

A Japanese cook, we read, will often spend as much time in the arrangement and color scheme of food as he does to the taste. Maybe that's what he's trying to get you to overlook

Both reports are described as surprising, even before complete data are in. They are based on surveys of spending plans for expansion by large companies.

Unexpected business confidence is shown in the reports despite higher taxes and other slowdown tactics of the Federal Reserve and the Johnson administration. Spending increases of as much as 7 per cent are foreseen.

One obvious conclusion is that business will be giving its endorsement to a balanced rather than inflated economy. Economic stability is always desired by those responsible for making large spending plans.

In general, these and other economists now foresee a flattening of the economy during the next few months, but with little likelihood of a recession, despite fears that have been expressed even by administration officials.

As inflation is squeezed from the economy, these economists feel, a foundation for real growth will begin to solidify.

In the second half of 1969, the two upcoming reports suggest, the economy will be in the midst of a resurgence. At least one of the forecasts indicates that the upturn will be sharp.

These reports tie in with what appears to be a return of business confidence in the ability of officialdom, represented by the Federal Reserve and the administration, to steer the economy in the right direction.

Confidence had fallen badly in the past two years as inflation spread almost unchecked. Optimism seems to have risen following government spending cuts, the tax increase and other measures. Hard lessons learned in the past two years may pay dividends in the future, it is felt.

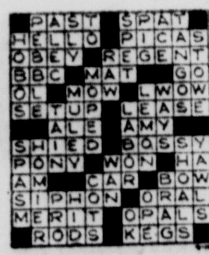

Of interest to investors are records showing that stock market advances precede upturns in capital spending, which the upcoming reports indicate will be strong in the latter half of 1969, by six to 12 months.

The blare of the band splits the night air. A drum major starts his strut and a flock of pretty girls commences to prance.

Then the musicians march forward in perfect alignment and there are dozens of them. The football season has arrived.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — At least two well known economic consultants to large corporations here are about to release bullish reports on prospects for the economy in 1969.

Both reports are described as surprising, even before complete data are in. They are based on surveys of spending plans for expansion by large companies.

Unexpected business confidence is shown in the reports despite higher taxes and other slowdown tactics of the Federal Reserve and the Johnson administration. Spending increases of as much as 7 per cent are foreseen.

One obvious conclusion is that business will be giving its endorsement to a balanced rather than inflated economy. Economic stability is always desired by those responsible for making large spending plans.

In general, these and other economists now foresee a flattening of the economy during the next few months, but with little likelihood of a recession, despite fears that have been expressed even by administration officials.

As inflation is squeezed from the economy, these economists feel, a foundation for real growth will begin to solidify.

In the second half of 1969, the two upcoming reports suggest, the economy will be in the midst of a resurgence. At least one of the forecasts indicates that the upturn will be sharp.

These reports tie in with what appears to be a return of business confidence in the ability of officialdom, represented by the Federal Reserve and the administration, to steer the economy in the right direction.

Confidence had fallen badly in the past two years as inflation spread almost unchecked. Optimism seems to have risen following government spending cuts, the tax increase and other measures. Hard lessons learned in the past two years may pay dividends in the future, it is felt.

Of interest to investors are records showing that stock market advances precede upturns in capital spending, which the upcoming reports indicate will be strong in the latter half of 1969, by six to 12 months.

This may or may not hold true for the stock market in 1969. Other factors, such as corporate profits, also must match increases in capital spending before a general rule can be stated.

However, some stock market analysts with unusual courage or confidence have gone out on a limb to forecast better stock prices in 1969, primarily for sound, blue chip companies that tend to benefit from stability.

Among these is John Wright, of Bridgeport, Conn., adviser to well-to-do individuals and institutions, one of whose policies is to deal almost solely in stocks of premium investment quality.

"Twelve months from now," says Wright, "today's stock market pricing of most blue chips will, in our opinion, look like a fisherman's view of the big ones that got away."

Wright feels that with inflation receding the price per share of marginal companies will retreat also and that the money will go into the large, blue chip companies that are less subject to short-term changes.

"We're at the end of one economic cycle, which began in 1960, and we're about to enter a new one," Wright says, adding that he expects to commit his own and customers' funds to the stock market by late October.

Such optimism and straight talks is rare. Although neither the directness nor uncommonness makes them correct, such attitudes do give an idea of how some economists and analysts are changing their thinking.

The fallibility of the seers is too easily realized when you consider the political, military and diplomatic hazards of 1969. Nobody can foresee events as they will occur, but they can take a position.

A few respected economists and analysts, backed by surveys and studies such as those on capital spending, now seem to be taking a stand. And in some instances their confident posture is one that a few months ago they would have damned not take.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

'Dirty Old Man' Needs A Doctor

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in your reply to "DIRTY OLD MAN'S WIFE." You said, "He's sick. Get him to a doctor." I've known for years that my husband is "sick." It is so humiliating to sit in a restaurant with him while he flirts with the waitresses, at any woman sitting nearby whose eye he happens to catch. And when he stares at the young girls from their feet up, and then down again, I want to run!

I meet my friends away from my home because they won't come by if they know he's there. I have many worthwhile interests, such as music, gardening, books and church work, but, O, for a companion to grow old with!

Yes, I realize he's sick, but how do you get a man in his 60's to a doctor?

WISHFUL THINKING

DEAR WISHFUL: You can't call the men in the white coats and ask them to come and throw a net over him. But you can call your family doctor and tell him what you have told me. Together you can work out a scheme to get your husband to submit to a PHYSICAL examination. The mental examination can be subtly worked in without arousing suspicion. There IS help for your husband's illness (and is IS an illness)—and it's more common than you think.

DEAR ABBY: Please help, quick. My 17-year-old daughter is very pretty and an honor student. Our home life has always been good, and she's had the best examples and upbringing. The trouble. She wants to visit a boyfriend who now lives 100 miles away. He would pay her train fare and put her up in a motel for the night.

She sees nothing wrong with this and calls me "an evil minded old hag" who doesn't trust her.

Abby, I do trust her, but I can't get thru to her that there are dangers in a situation like this regardless of her innocent intentions, and 17-year-old girls just don't go off alone like that. We don't know this boy, and know nothing of his family.

Am I being too strict? She says, "Everybody does things like that."

"EVIL MINDED OLD HAG" DEAR HAG: Stick with your decision. The road to you-know-where is paved with good intentions.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 57 years. At that time cut glass was THE thing, and I received dozens of lovely pieces. I put them in my china closet and used them only on very rare occasions.

I have five daughters and ten grandchildren. I gave them each their choice from my collection of cut glass, and still had many nice pieces left over, so when an antique dealer offered to buy them from me, I sold them.

One of my daughters criticized me terribly for "selling" my wedding gifts. I felt that the money could be used to buy birthday gifts for my family.

Did I do wrong? I am 83 years old. Sincerely,

NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: Sharper than a serpent's tooth (and a load of cut glass) is a thankless child. After 57 years, wedding gifts can be considered "antiques"—to be disposed of any way the owner wishes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO F AND L IN TUCSON: Retaliation is for children. Two such "wrongs" could make a write-up.

Foul-Up Brings Death To South Vietnamese Marines

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

THAI PHONG, Vietnam (AP) — It was a bad day for the South Vietnamese marines, a very bad day.

The sad clusters of dead and wounded being carried through the rain to the rear attested to that.

The skirmish fought, and lost west of Tay Ninh on Thursday may well have come out differently if somewhere in this corner of Vietnam American helicopter gunships could have been found in time.

None was and the killing began. The American advisers involved in the ground action blamed no one except, perhaps, the fickle fortune of battle. The Vietnamese commanders kept their own counsel and counted their casualties, about 30 including eight dead.

Three enemy regiments were said to be operating around Tay Ninh, so when the marines charged into this village two miles from the city and ran into stiff resistance, no one was surprised.

Almost routinely the senior

American adviser, Marine Maj. Bill Eshelman of Woodbridge, Va., pinpointed the enemy position and called for helicopter gunships to "hose down the area" with rocket and machine-gun fire.

Although Tay Ninh was the military focal point of all Vietnam then, nearly an hour after the request there were no gunships to be had.

When the first enemy volleys ripped through the village a handful of marines—perhaps five—fell. But they were virtually under the muzzles of enemy machine guns and automatic weapons.

When no American gunships arrived, the government troops proceeded to do their dangerous duty, crawl forward to retrieve their fallen buddies, some still alive. One by one they fell in the attempt.

An hour and a half after the battle broke out, one gunship appeared and made a short firing pass. Then the American pilot radioed his regrets. He had been ordered to go to another area.

Marine Lt. Bill Fite of Richmond, Va., the deputy adviser, was huddled with the pinned down unit. Asked about the situation by Eshelman, Fite radioed: "We're hurting pretty bad for guns (helicopter gunships). We can't move forward without them. Now they are firing rockets into our positions."

Provincial headquarters which had made repeated pleas for helicopters, radioed: "I'll relay that back. It may shake someone up enough to get something."

Then later word from headquarters to Eshelman: "Just checked with my higher up. All assets (helicopters) are fully committed."

An Army adviser explained later, "The helicopters are American and American troops come first. When U.S. troops and Vietnamese troops are both in contact with the enemy the U.S. troops always come first." Nearly 2 1/2 hours after the fighting broke out, gunships suddenly appeared in large numbers. There were so many they stacked up over the battlefield and had to wait their turn to make firing passes.

No one on the ground could say why it took so long or how so many choppers suddenly became available but they were overjoyed.

About 50 yards ahead of where Fite was crouched in a ditch, the marines were still falling from enemy fire. The word was passed back that nearly an entire squad was wiped out when it tried to dash forward to get wounded buddies under cover of the gunship attacks.

Finally, the last of the dead and wounded were dragged back.

Eshelman was asked how many North Vietnamese had been hit in the fight.

"Probably there were only a few," he said. "In the end they were too well dug in for the gunships to get them out."

Fortunately such days are comparatively few in Vietnam. Possibly an inquiry will be ordered to find out what went wrong in Thai Phong.

To the dead, a blinded young marine and others so seriously wounded they probably never will fight again, the answer didn't matter much.

Pickaway Grange Report

STAR GRANGE

Star Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening in the Monroe School auditorium with Worthy Master, Harold Furniss, presiding over the business session.

The secretary, Mrs. Helen Hammel, read thank you notes from Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Bidwell for flowers they received while they were in the hospital. She also read thank you notes from the Pickaway County Grange Youth group for the flowers used in the pageant at Scioto Valley Grange for the Prince and Princess contest. A letter was read concerning articles to be put in Ditty Bags for soldiers in Vietnam and the group voted a contribution to help with this project.

Mrs. Francis Furniss, home economics chairman, thanked all who helped and donated for the County Fair lunch stand and also to those who helped with the Canteen at the Bloodmobile last month. It was also announced that the Youth Group will serve lunch this Friday night at the card party at Circleville 4-H and Grange Building and Star Grange will serve in Oct. Election of officers was held the following results:

master, Flem Blair; overseer, Robert Morgan; lecturer, Ernestine Dudson; steward, Harold Furniss; assistant steward, Jimmy Beathard; chaplain, Florence Long; treasurer, Frances Follrod; secretary, Helen Hammel; gate keeper, Wilbur Beathard; cures, Laura Long; pomona, Joan Dawson; flora, Doris Beathard; ladies assistant steward, Mildred Morgan; legislative agent, Carroll Reid; pianist, Betty Ann Grabill; junior matron, Patty Blair; executive committee Francis Furniss. The next meeting will begin promptly at 8 p.m. The group voted to send the lecturer to lecturer's conference at Southern Hotel, Columbus, on Oct. 12. Mrs. Dudson thanked all who helped with the fair booth and opened her program, "The Worth of an Individual" with group singing "Smiles." The chaplain gave the thought for the day and Patty Blair read, "One Cent." Laura Long read, "Power on Individual" and Joan Dawson read "My Worth." The program closed with group singing. "I'm a Granger." Lovely refreshments were served by Mrs. Helen Phillips. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harden and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Grabill and daughter Betty Ann.

Pain In Neck Was A Bullet

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — Michael Simon knew he had a pain in the neck. But the 21-year-old Roseville man said it took eight days before he learned it was caused by a bullet.

Doctors at South Macomb Hospital found Thursday that Simon had either a .22- or .25-caliber slug lodged in his neck.

He had gone to the hospital complaining of a pain that persisted ever since he was driving along a road Sept. 4, heard "a whoosh of air" and his neck started to bleed.

Simon told Warren police that at the time he went to a drug store and a pharmacist stopped the bleeding and sent him home.

Five Points

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dilley and daughter Brenda Sue have moved into their new mobile home. Their Sunday guests were Paul Beavers, Evonne Dickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Furniss and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Marshall of Jacktown were Friday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Kern and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith and daughters Karen and Judy of Hilliards were Sunday guests of his mother, Mrs. Kathryn Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Neff and family were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Neff and family of near Circleville.

Mr. Perry Cayey of Newport Ritchie, Florida and grandson Dean Hershey of Amanda, Mrs. Herman Porter, and Mrs. Ray Harden Jr. and children Jed, Joel and Jody of Mt. Sterling were Tuesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Michel.

Mrs. Elizabeth Davis had the misfortune to fall at her home last Wednesday and fracture her left arm.

Mrs. A. H. Streng of Cincinnati was the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Markley and Mrs. Elizabeth Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Truitt and daughter Belinda of South Solon were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Truitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Markley and houseguest Mrs. Dorothy Streng of Cincinnati and Mrs. Ernest Truitt were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jenks of near South Charleston.

The Five Points Methodist WSCS held their September meeting Wednesday evening in the church basement. The president, Mrs. Paul Moore, opened the meeting with readings by Mrs. Arthur Dick and Mrs. Richard Everman. Mrs. Marion Riley read scripture from 11 Corinthians. There were 16 members present. Nov. 2nd was the date chosen for the annual turkey supper. Plans were made for a rummage sale and the meeting closed with the benediction. Lovely refreshments were served by Mrs. Arthur Winfough, Mrs. D. J. Conley and Mrs. Austin Fuller. Mrs. Clarence Finch read an article, "Together Still."

A poem "Education Time" was read in keeping with the paper prepared by Miss Nellie Oesterly, "Trends In Education."

In the paper Miss Oesterly reported that education is the largest single institution in the United States. More than one and one-half million teachers, twenty million fulltime students, thousands of administrators and 30 per cent of all Americans participated in some form of organized education which includes adult schools, camps, foundations, Peace Corps, industry and armed services. Miss Oesterly's report included:

"Mounting evidence indicates clearly that important changes will need to be made in almost every aspect of education during the next few years. Will all of these changes result in improvements in the educational field or will some of them be harmful from a long range point of view in the field of education as in the field of medicine one cannot afford to do either the wrong thing or neglect to do something that is needed if there is any way of avoiding such a mistake.

"Planning for education has advanced far beyond the stage of dreaming. Long range planning has become essential and may help avoid costly mistakes. Reform is being delayed because the public does not fully realize how badly we need to improve scholastic standards in order to be educationally competitive. Most Americans are not aware of the extent and seriousness of the school dropout program.

"Public schools such as we have known are said to be dying institutions. Almost all children have entered school at the age of 6 and approximately all of the same age are in the same grade. Each child has been expected to spend 12 years in elementary and secondary school, 4 to 5 years in college, and only in graduate school is there flexibility. Costly buildings are used sparingly during vacations.

"Our educational system is facing two major challenges. First, preparation for adult life has become more complicated because of the higher levels of intellectual, technical and social skills that are required in our modern world. Secondly, the demands upon the schools to serve special groups, to solve community problems, to identify and develop the gifted child and at the same time to eliminate Negro scholastic inferiority have increased.

"The biggest failure of education, according to many is not producing more scientists and engineers than Russia, but in producing more unemployables.

"Many interesting experiments are being tried throughout the country in our schools. Some schools give no grades in the first six grades. The students move along as fast as individual abilities can take them. There are no report cards, no promotions and no failures. Parents are informed through conferences and mid-term reports. Achievement tests are given in the next three grades. Excellent results are reported.

"More stress needs to be placed on importance of effective administration for too many are without the kind of preparation needed. Business, industry and the armed services spend most on administrative personnel. Education does too little.

"The greatest challenge to American education is to develop better informed and more responsible citizens who can live comfortably with themselves and with their world neighbors in a dynamic world."

Cox Circle Feted With Luncheon

Mrs. William Cox entertained Cox Circle of the Community United Methodist Church to a luncheon at her home in Knollwood Village on Wednesday. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Louise Carter and Mrs. Frank Zimmerman.

The 17 members present were served in the dining room at a table centered with an arrangement of garden flowers and lighted candles.

Battery Powered Artificial Arms Respond To Thoughts

An CHS Game

BOSTON (AP) — Battery-powered artificial arms that move just by thinking about where you want them to go have been developed by a team of doctors and engineers.

The arms were demonstrated Thursday by two men who lost their limbs in industrial accidents. The movement of the arms is controlled by muscle-generated electrical impulses and they flex like a natural arm.

Rudolph Paquin, 59, of Tiverton, R.I., said the so-called Boston arm enables him to do many more things than he can with his regular artificial arm and "without so much effort." Parker Rand Jr., 20, of Bangor, Maine, agreed the Boston arm works better.

The artificial arms are powered by small electric motors in the elbows, which get their "instructions" from minute electrical signals given off by muscles in the upper arm.

The signals are received from electrodes attached to the skin to detect electricity generated by muscles when a person wants to move his forearm.

The artificial arm weighs 2 pounds 1 ounce. The battery pack, about the size of a portable radio and carried on the waist on a shoulder strap, weighs about 3 pounds.

An amputee can lift about 10 pounds and hold about 50 pounds with the arm.

Mann estimated that with mass production the cost per arm could be less than $1,000.

It was developed by a team drawn from the staffs of M.I.T., Harvard Medical School, Massachusetts General Hospital and Liberty Mutual Insurance Co.

"The Boston arm requires no deliberate training of other muscles—it uses the same ones a man normally would," Mann said.

Dr. Melvin J. Glimcher said those participating in the first patient tests of the new arms have learned to use them in brief training sessions in contrast to "the weeks, months or never" that other artificial arms required.

Houston Heart
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Houston's 12th and latest heart transplant recipient died at Methodist Hospital Friday after suffering a cardiac arrest.

Death came to James E. Singleton, 47, of Fort Worth, on his 27th wedding anniversary, eight days after he received the heart of a teen-age motorcycle accident victim.

Of the 43 heart transplant patients in the world, 21 now survive. Eight of the 12 recipients in Houston are living.

Singleton, a tool maker, received the heart of Paul C. Mason, 17, of Long Beach, Calif., on Sept. 5. Mason was fatally injured three days before and was flown to Houston after his family was told he suffered irreparable brain damage.

The transplant surgery was performed by a team led by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey.

Toastmasters Contest Won By Ted West

Thursday night marked the conclusion of a successful humorous speech contest for the Circleville Toastmasters Club.

The last two meetings of the club have been devoted to the contest. Offering speeches for the final night were Chuck Orr, George Robinson, Howard Snook and Tom Matesky.

Winner of the event from the previous meeting was Ted West with a hilarious improvisation centered around "An Undertaker's Look At Life."

Copping second and third were Snook and McKenney. Serving as judges for the event were president Bob Rusty, Vernon Bolander was honored for being a member of the All Ohio Boy's Band at the State Fair.

In the table topics portion of the meeting Gary Agin emerged as the winner. It was announced that all members should bring guests to the next two meetings in order to kick off the final membership drive.

Nazarene Church Slates Revival
The Rev. W. L. McMillan of Newark, Del., will be the guest minister during a week of prayer and evangelism emphasis at the Church of the Nazarene beginning Monday, Sept. 16. This series of services will implement the denominational call to prayer for this week using the theme, "My Church Is My Concern."

Mr. McMillan, a former Circleville resident, is a graduate of the Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Mo., and an ordained elder in the church. He has served in the work of evangelism and, also, the pastoral ministry. His pastorates include State College, Pa., and Newark, Del., First Church of the Nazarene, where he now serves.

The services 7:30 nightly will include the Bible—centered ministry of Rev. McMillan and inspirational music by the local church. Community interest and participation is invited for the benefit of all.

Lowery Lane Home Is Burglarized
Ralph Hones, Columbus, told Circleville Police Friday evening that a house he owned on Lowery Lane had been entered and that a rug, seven window blinds and two chairs were taken.

The articles stolen were valued at $12.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

I have just finished reading the article in Wednesday's paper, about the old Cliftona Theater being reopened.

I am writing to express my thanks to Mr. Carl Leigh, who has leased the theater. I understand that our Mayor, Richard Gerhardt influenced this man to reopen the building.

I am sure I am not the only person glad to hear of this news. Circleville has needed a theater for a long time, but up until now, no one cared enough to do anything about it.

The newspaper stated that the theater, renamed "The Fox" will open in mid-November. I am sure that we will not let Mr. Leigh regret his decision of reopening a theater in our town—he will have our support, all the way!

Claim Coercion By Trade Union
TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A farmers' cooperative official claimed here Friday that migrant farm workers had been threatened with physical violence if they refused to join a trade union.

Ralph Gilmor of Fremont, chairman of the Ohio Agriculture Marketing Association (OAMA), identified the union at a news conference as the Farm Labor Organization Committee (FLOC).

Gilmor further charged that FLOC had engaged in illegal picketing in Lucas and Ottawa counties.

Circleville Wins Sixth Annual Game With Vikings

LEATHERWOOD GOES DOWN — Mark Leatherwood, who had to leave the game during the third quarter because of a cramp, came back in the fourth quarter as halfback. Here he gets caught behind the line as Circleville supplies a strong rush. The Tigers won the tilt, 26-6, on their home field.

FOURTH QUARTER ACTION — As the clock ticked away in the final canto, Circleville Coach Denny Williams substituted freely. Here Bob Tucker, Viking fullback, prepares to stiffarm tackler Dick Radcliff.

Tiger Pointers

Circleville Coach Denny Williams in recapping the action was a little disappointed in the Circleville passing attack. The Tigers tried five and none were successful.

"If we would have completed that first pass, it would have changed the complexion of the game," he felt. Because the Tigers were not having success passing, the Vikings were able to stack their defenses to stop the CHS running attack.

"All 11 of their players were within five yards of the line of scrimmage at times," coach Jim Lint noted. He and Dick Fisher were the coaching staff spotters on top of the press box.

Coach Brent Bell was on the field to aid Williams while fresh coach Danny Fouts was scouting Walnut Ridge, the Tigers' opponent next Friday. Walnut Ridge has taken two losses on the chin, both to Central Ohio League Schools. Lancaster beat them a week ago and Zanesville downed them, 32-6, last night.

Williams went to his bench frequently in the second half to give his younger boys much needed experience. "I don't know if the fans realize it but those kids that played the fourth quarter are the ones we'll have to go with next year."

He was referring to the predominately senior character of the Red and Black grid team.

The coach's father, Sid Williams, came to Tigertown to watch the game.

There was a lot of experience in the press box last night. Timer Tom Elsea has been assisting either by spotting for the announcer or assisting with the scoreboard and clock, for 13 years.

Veteran announcer Bill Stout has been manning the public address system for 10 years. Charlie Walters has been spotting for eight years. Dave Bircher has been assistant scorekeeper for 11 years. Carl Martin has been assistant scorekeeper for seven years.

Bob Tootle, last year's quarterback, has been at the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado since June. The grid team there started practice Aug. 19. Tootle has won a starting berth on the frosh team as a defensive right halfback, the position that caused him as much trouble as any during his high school football career.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thornton and Mrs. Louise Lambert returned from Cornell University in New York Thursday. They took their sons, Dick (Thunder) Thornton, center on the 1967 Tigers, and Craig Lambert, tackle, to college.

The two boys have attended the freshman football meeting, were scheduled to take physicals yesterday and are expected to start practice Monday.

Teays Valley used a totally different offense and defense than they did in the opening loss against Wehrle, Tiger coaches said.

Teays Valley halfback Mark Leatherwood suffered from a rather severe muscle cramp during the game. He recovered though and was able to get back in the game.

Circleville's only injury was Steve Olney, senior tackle and linebacker. He was scheduled to go to the hospital today for an X-ray to check for possible cartilage damage in his leg.

Walnut Ridge High School is on E. Livingston Ave. in Columbus. One of the easiest routes to the school is to go to Groveport, turn north on Hamilton Road and then east on Livingston. The school is not too far from Hamilton Road.

Tigers Improved In 26-6 Victory

By STEVE JONES

Circleville High School maintained its gridiron mastery over Teays Valley, giving Coach Denny Williams his first victory as Tiger mentor in a 26-6 battle on the CHS field Friday.

Five different Tigers figured in the scoring. Danny Smith, Eddie Wells, Will Bost and Mike Henderson all scored touchdowns. Dick Walters and Smith kicked extra points.

Ed McCord was on the receiving end of a pass from Mike Buckingham for the only Viking touchdown.

The first quarter was a scoreless deadlock. Circleville twice crossed the goal line in the second period. The Tigers tallied again in the third and both scored in the final canto.

TEAYS Valley started a young team. The only seniors were Mark Leatherwood, a halfback; Mike Buckingham, quarterback and Dean Forson, tackle.

Circleville on the other hand, started a largely senior team. Dick Walters and Mike Henderson were the only two underclassmen, and both are juniors.

Circleville dominated the first half of the football game. The Tigers won the toss of the coin and elected to receive the ball.

Their initial chance on offense was not productive, ending with a fumble after one first down and a net yardage of 11.

Teays Valley picked up five yards on four plays after recovering the fumble on the Tiger 43 yard stripe. They were stopped five yards short of the first down.

Circleville then mounted a 58 yard drive that the Vikings stopped on the four yard line. The Tigers had four first downs in the drive, including one on the 12 yard line. Three thrusts by Danny Smith and Eddie Wells picked seven yards. Rick Sims was stopped two yards short of a first down and five yards short of the TD on a rollout.

THE Vikings couldn't get a first down, and Chuck Jackson booted the ball to Mike Henderson at the Viking 35 yard line. Henderson returned the kick to the 14 yard line, setting up the Tiger's first score.

Will Bost was called on first to carry the ball and gained two yards. Mike Henderson then threaded his way behind the Tiger blocking for a nine yard gain to the three and a first down.

Then an illegal procedure penalty cost the Tigers five yards. But Danny Smith darted through a hole on the right side and skipped into the end zone to break the scoring ice with 9:50 to go in the second quarter. Dick Walters kicked the extra point.

Smith then kicked off to Jeff Ehman at the 25 yard line. He returned the ball to the 33. The Vikings were held to a net yardage of three yards on the series, and Jackson punted the ball to Henderson at the 48. On a brilliant runback, Henderson reached the Viking 15 before he was stopped. But offsetting penalties were called — clipping against Circleville and offside against Teays Valley, and the Vikings got to punt again.

This time the ball went to Sims at the Circleville 40 and he was nailed in his tracks.

Circleville moved 60 yards in 10 plays, consuming 3½ minutes of playing time, to score. Eddie Wells carried the ball on the last three attempts, finally bulling into the endzone from the one foot line. Walters missed the try for the extra point.

THE ensuing series saw Teays Valley gain six yards before a 15 yard penalty was assessed against the Tigers. It gave the Vikings a first down near mid-field, their initial first down of the game.

A pass by Buckingham was nearly intercepted by Jim Samuel. Then Buckingham was nailed for a 12 yard loss as he faded back to pass again and the Vikings were first to punt.

A high pass from center nearly went over the head of Jackson. The Viking punter got off a running kick that got a good roll and went for 33 yards. Circleville gained 34 yards in a drive that was ended by the clock at halftime.

During the first half, Circleville gained a total of 182 yards compared to only 10 for Teays Valley.

The Viking opened the second half with a 30 yard drive that fizzled out on the Circleville 46 yard line. Circleville's Sims lofted a pass on the Tigers' second play from scrimmage and it was intercepted by Ed McCord.

BUT the Vikings only had the ball for three plays. On the third play they fumbled and the ball was recovered by a Tiger at the 19 yard line.

That recovery set up Circleville's third touchdown. Smith gained four yards on a carry. Then Sims called on Will Bost four successive times. Bost finally drove over from the two yard line for the score, with 3:33 to play in the third quarter.

Walter's extra point attempt was blocked by Jackson.

Neither team was able to do much for the remainder of the third quarter. Just after the final period, the Vikings were stopped a yard short of a first down.

Circleville took over on their own 38 yard line and moved 62 yards in five plays for the score. Smith gained 12 yards on the first play from scrimmage. Then Henderson romped for a 24-yard gain. Bost came through with a nine yard effort and Henderson accounted for the remaining yardage.

Smith booted the extra point, making the score 26-0 with 9:26 to go in the game.

Teays Valley's scoring drive came right after that touchdown.

SMITH kicked off to Champ Henson at the Teays Valley 21 yard line. Henson returned the ball to the 40.

On the first play, Buckingham hit McCord with a nine yard pass. Then Ron Crosby crunched through the line for two yards and a first down. Danny Hicks carried the ball twice for a yard each time and then caught a pass for another yard gain.

Bob Tucker ran for eight yards. A pass was incomplete and then Dick Radcliff dumped Buckingham for a 10 yard loss.

Buckingham made up for the loss on the next play, hitting Bob Tucker for a 28 yard pass play. Tucker carried two times in succession to the Tiger nine yard line and then Buckingham hit McCord with the TD aerial. The pass for the extra points was completed but the receiver was dropped before he crossed the goal line.

There was 3:02 showing on the clock when the Vikings made the final touchdown of the game. With both coaches moving as many boys as possible into the game in the final minutes, there was little yardage gained.

It is the sixth time Circleville has beaten the Vikings in football. Last year's score at Teays Valley was almost identical with the score last night. The Tigers won 27-6 a year ago.

The widest winning margin was 41-0 the first time the two teams met.

HENDERSON RETURNS PUNT — Mike Henderson, junior halfback and reserve quarterback for Circleville, thrilled the capacity crowd with several breakaway runs for long gains. Here he is returning a punt against Teays Valley. Henderson carried six times from scrimmage and gained 73 yards, an average of 12.5 per carry.

South Central Ohio League Grid Teams Better Record

Friday the 13th proved to be luckier for South Central Ohio League football teams than Friday the sixth.

Four of the five teams that had games last night won them, while last week the only winner was Washington C. H.

Rob Wilson snuck across the one yard line with three seconds left on the clock to give Washington C. H. a 6-0 win over Chillicothe Friday.

Miami Trace's defense held Pleasant View and the Trace Panthers won, 14-6. Jackson, sporting a talented passer, crushed Greenfield McClain, 40-8. Wilmington upset Cincinnati 18-6.

WASHINGTON battled the Cavaliers for three periods without a score. Then a recovered fumble in the final period gave WCH the ball on the Chillicothe 47 yard stripe.

The Blue Lions worked the ball inside the five where they fumbled it away. Chillicothe tried to pass out of the hole. But Stan Brown picked off the aerial on the Cavaliers' 26 with 30 seconds to go.

Pass interference against Chillicothe put the ball on the one yard line where Wilson took it in on the last play of the game.

Washington rushed for 116 yards and passed for 133 more on nine of 19. Chillicothe picked up 198 yards on the ground and 10 through the air, completing two of 13 passes.

Bob Martin, a senior safety for the Blue Lions, was singled out for his fine defensive plays. Trace scored on a one-yard sneak by Jeff Blake in the second period to take a lead over Pleasant View. A Blake to Jeff Tarbutton pass was good for the extra points. A 14 yard pass from Ralph Cockrell to Ted Coe pulled Pleasant View within two points, but Bev Lee's two yard dive with a second left, padded the lead.

TRACE showed an extremely improved defense and seemed fired up. They had two long drives snuffed out by lost fumbles. Statistics showed Trace with 162 yards rushing and five passing on one of seven tosses. PV rushed for 47 net yards, all in the second half, and passed for 63 more on five of 13.

Greenfield still continued to show no signs of life, bowing to the super passing of Jackson's Ray DeStephens. DeStephens hit on eight of 11 passes for 177 yards in the first half when Jackson built up a 26-0 lead.

Coach Paul Orr pulled his starters in frustration in the second half and finished the game with second and third stringers. The Tigers scored in the final period when Bob Riley ran three yards. Mike Cross scored the extra points on a run.

Wilmington ground out 387 total yards, including 198 through the air on six completions in nine attempts. Withrow, held to 189 total yards, scored in the first period on a 50 yard scamper by Milt Thurhill.

Wilmington marked six in the first period on a two yard sneak by Karl Rosenberg. The score was set up by a 60-yard run reeled off by Chuck Fazio. Rosenberg tossed a 31 yard strike to Mike Graham in the third period for a score. The last touchdown in the fourth period was a 75 yard pass play, Rosenberg to Fazio.

OFFICIALS called a total of 165 yards in penalties. Hillsboro had the night off but battles Blanchester this afternoon at Blanchester.

Westfall, Unioto Battle To 12-12 SVC Deadlock

Westfall halted Unioto's 30 game winning streak with a 12-12 gridiron deadlock Friday on the Shermans field.

Unioto has never lost a varsity football game since it began playing four years ago. The only other blemish on the Shermans record is a tie game with Piketon played the first year of competition.

The Mustangs turned in a stellar defensive performance, holding highly touted quarterback Dave Juenger for 66 yards in 16 carries. Juenger only completed three of 11 passes in the game.

The Mustangs three times caused the Shermans to fumble and three times recovered the fumbles to halt scoring threats.

IN the first quarter, Unioto had moved the ball to the three. They bobbled the ball there and it was pounced on by Jack Moore for the Mustangs.

In the second quarter Tim Dewey recovered a fumble and Pat Whaley came up with a loose ball in the third period.

Ron Parsons, transfer student from Teays Valley, scored the first touchdown of the game. He powered 30 yards right up the middle in the first period for the score.

Juenger tied the game with a six yard run in the second quarter. Neither team was able to generate a scoring drive in the third period and for over half of the final frame.

Then with 4:48 left to play in the game, Dave Juenger hit Mike Hoffner with a 45 yard touchdown aerial.

The Mustangs bounced back with a scoring effort that was culminated with a five yard pass from John Furniss to Tony Lightie.

FURNISS was the game's leading groundgainer. He rushed for 100 yards in 18 carries. Ron Parsons carried the ball 11 times, gaining 55 yards. Gene Carfrey carried nine times for 47 yards and Greg Bigam 10 times for 33 yards.

Furniss completed one of two pass attempts and Bigam three of ten attempts. Tony Lightie was on the receiving end of two passes, good for 28 yards and one touchdown.

For Unioto, John Davis carried seven times, gaining 30 yards and Sam Park, 17 times for a total of 84 yards.

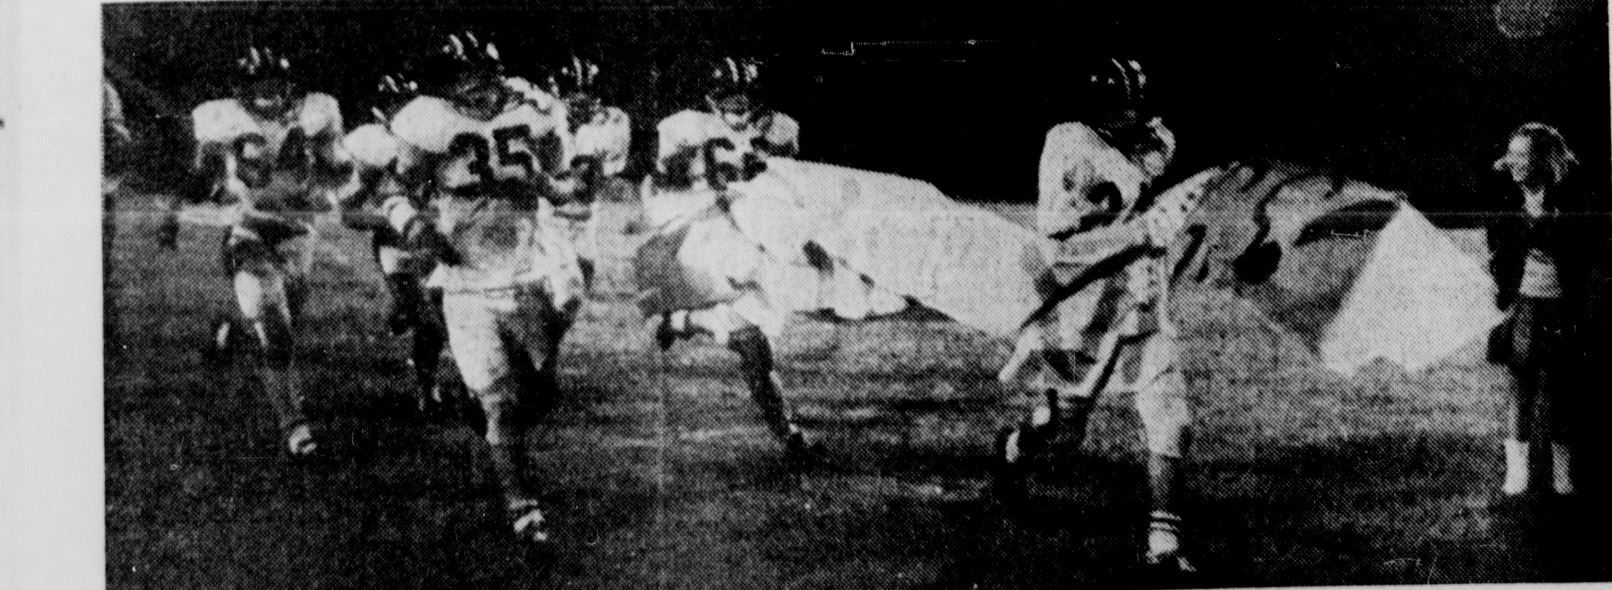

Westfall had 282 yards total offense, 214 on the ground and 68 through the air. Unioto had 276 total yards. Of that total, 206 were on the ground and 70 by passing.

Carfrey punted three times for Westfall averaging 31 yards a kick. Juenger punted six times for Unioto, averaging 28 yards a kick.

The Mustangs had 21 first downs compared to 13 first downs for Unioto. Westfall was penalized 40 yards and the hosts a total of 55 yards.

IT was the first Scioto Valley Conference game to be played this year. Both teams have a 1-0-1 record for the season.

Next Friday travels to Piketon for another SVC battle.

GO, TIGERS! SINK VIKINGS — Those are the sentiments expressed on the paper banner the reserve cheerleaders fixed up Friday for their Circleville Tigers to run through. The ritual is usually performed before the game, but someone got their signals crossed and the action took place before the second half.

Helwagen, Moon Tie For Low Net At PCC

Teams No. 1 and 6 tied for top honors with 18 points in a makeup round of Pickaway Country Club Men's League play Thursday.

Steve Helwagen and Bob Moon tied for low gross with 36 while John Payne was low net with 33. There are two more sets in the third round in the league.

Team No. 7 is still leading the league with 86 points. Team No. 6 has 84½ points in second.

Helwagen, Moon Tie For Low Net At PCC

The Bengals held the Chargers to a 10-10 halftime deadlock.

The Bengals clash here Sunday with the Denver Broncos, who have a relatively young team like the Bengals and defeated them 15-13 in an exhibition game.

But the Broncos, opening the regular season Sunday have quarterback problems as Steve Tensi, their No. 1 signal caller, is sidelined with a broken collarbone.

Furniss completed one of two pass attempts and Bigam three of ten attempts. Tony Lightle was on the receiving end of two passes, good for 28 yards and one touchdown.

For Unioto, John Davis carried seven times, gaining 30 yards and Sam Park, 17 times for a total of 84 yards.

Westfall had 282 yards total offense, 214 on the ground and 68 through the air. Unioto had 276 total yards. Of that total, 206 were on the ground and 70 by passing.

Carrey punted three times for Westfall averaging 31 yards a kick. Juenger punted six times for Unioto, averaging 28 yards a kick.

The Mustangs had 21 first downs compared to 13 first downs for Unioto. Westfall was penalized 40 yards and the hosts a total of 55 yards.

IT was the first Scioto Valley Conference game to be played this year. Both teams have a 1-0-1 record for the season.

Next Friday travels to Piketon for another SVC battle.

Helwagen, Moon Tie For Low Net At PCC

Teams No. 1 and 6 tied for top honors with 18 points in a makeup round of Pickaway Country Club Men's League play Thursday.

Steve Helwagen and Bob Moon tied for low gross with 36 while John Payne was low net with 33. There are two more sets in the third round in the league.

Team No. 7 is still leading the league with 86 points. Team No. 6 has 84 1/2 points in second.

GO, TIGERS! SINK VIKINGS — Those are the sentiments expressed on the paper banner the reserve cheerleaders fixed up Friday for their Circleville Tigers to run through. The ritual is usually performed before the game, but someone got their signals crossed and the action took place before the second half.

BATTLE AT END—It took three hours and 40 minutes for Louis deVerteul of the British Caribbean team to land this 756-pound tuna during the 19th International Tuna Cup match off Wedgeport, Nova Scotia.

Beulah Park Fall Meet Is Richest In Track's History

GROVE CITY—Having established numerous records during its spring meetings, Beulah Park is aiming for even higher goals during the fall session which begins September 28 and runs 25 days through October 26.

From the standpoint of horsemen, it will be the richest meeting in Beulah's history with a stakes and feature offering of $99,700 and this boost will send the total purse distribution to well beyond the $408,653 last spring, which is the current high at the track for a 25-day meet.

Six stakes are on the schedule, worth $73,500. They are: Oct. 5 — Decathlon Handicap, $7,500 added, six furlongs, three-year-olds, Oct. 12 — Ohio Championship, $10,000 added 1-16 miles, three and up, Oct. 16 — Diana Handicap, $7,500 added, mile on turf, three and up, fillies and mares.

Oct. 19 — City of Columbus Handicap, $15,000 added, six furlongs, three and up, Oct. 23 — O.T.H.A. Futurity, $8,500 added, six furlongs, two-year-olds, Oct. 26 — All American Handicap, $25,000 added, 1-1.8 miles, three and up.

In addition to the stakes the opening program will bring the $3,500 Inaugural Handicap and the $4,000 Freshman Handicap for two-year-olds. Both races are at six furlongs. Also on October 5, the $5,000 Rainbow Ray Handicap will be run at a mile on the turf while on closing day, sharing honors with the All American Handicap, will be the seventh running of the $4,000 Beulah Park Special at a mile and a sixteenth.

Distance racing also will be stressed during the span of sport. Each Wednesday, there will be one of a Middle Distance series. Races start at a mile and a quarter, followed by events at 1 1/4 miles, 1 1/2 miles and finally two miles and 70 yards. Purses in this series total $9,200.

Beulah will follow the same procedure as in the spring with nine races each week day starting at 2:15 p.m. and on Saturdays there will be ten events, with the first post at 1:30. Daily double wagering will be offered on the first and second races, with quinellas on the fifth and last races each day.

Beulah expects to have some 900 horses on hand for the opening with plenty of material for races in all divisions and in all price ranges.

Cleveland Browns Face New Orleans

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns head for New Orleans today for their season opener Sunday against the Saints.

The Browns held a final workout here Friday, and both Frank Ryan and Bill Nelsen appeared to be throwing well.

In pre-season games, the Cleveland passing attack was not impressive, with both quarterbacks completing just over 40 per cent of their pass attempts. Coach Blanton Collier has said the problem with the aerial offensive is that the passers and receivers aren't "timed up."

Saxbe, speaking at ceremonies opening his Mount Vernon campaign headquarters, said the federal cut back is unwise, unnecessary and interferes with progress Ohio residents are paying to receive.

AFL Raiders Defend Title

By HERSCHEL NISENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Quarterback Darrel Lamonica is signed and sealed and the Oakland Raiders hope he can deliver them to their second straight American Football League championship.

The Raiders open defense of their title Sunday afternoon (1:30 EDT) at Buffalo in the first half of a nationally televised (NBC) doubleheader. The second part (4 p.m. EDT) finds New York at Kansas City. Denver plays at Cincinnati in another Sunday contest while Houston and Miami get the weekend under way with a Saturday night clash in the Orange Bowl. Boston and San Diego are idle.

The AFL began its season last weekend and all 10 teams will have seen action by Sunday.

Houston dropped its opener to Kansas City and a loss to Miami would be a severe blow to the Oilers' defense of their Eastern Division crown.

Miami, 0-0, was staggered by an exhibition game injury to pass-catcher Jack Clancy, quarterback Bob Griese's chief target. Larry Csonka, powerful fullback from Syracuse, makes his pro debut despite a bruised thigh.

Injury-plagued Buffalo lost its opener to Boston, although rookie quarterback Dan Darragh filled in capably for Jack Kemp, out for the season. Another newcomer, Haven Moses, caught six passes. But the Bills are hurting for running backs.

New York's passing duo of Joe Namath and George Sauer will test the Kansas City secondary, which saved the Houston opener with two late interceptions.

The Chiefs got some good news when ace ball carrier Mike Garrett's injury turned out to be a bruised bicep rather than a torn shoulder muscle.

The Jets', 0-0, running threat, halfback Emerson Bozler, is back from knee surgery and probably will start despite limited preseason action.

Cincinnati's fledgling Bengals go after their first victory in their home debut. They held San Diego to a 10-10 halftime tie in the opener but couldn't hang on.

Denver, 0-0, is without injured quarterback Steve Tensi and will go with either John McCormick or Jimmy Leclair to take some of the defensive pressure away from running back Floyd Little.

Harney, Wall Lead Kemper Golf Open

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Golf pro Paul Harney hardly can be blamed for being slightly prejudiced. He thinks his Pleasant Valley Country Club course "is just beautiful."

Harney had plenty of others agreeing with him—particularly veteran Art Wall—as a trimmed-down field trained its sights on the 7,230-yard layout again today in the third round of the $150,000 Kemper Open golf tournament.

"It's a beautiful course—just beautiful," the 39-year-old Harney said with a grin Friday after posting a five-under-par 67 for a 36-hole total of 137. "It was the easiest round of golf I've played in a long time."

A short while later, Wall, who will be 45 in November, laughingly agreed as he came in with a 68 to move into a first-place tie with Harney at the halfway mark of the 72-hole tourney.

"I haven't played very well this year, but I can't complain about my game the last couple of days," Wall said. "I'll take four birdies and no bogeys any time."

Tigers Shut Out Oakland, 3-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Do Not Disturb sign has been hanging in the Detroit bullpen for 10 days now and as the Tigers inch closer to the American League pennant their only problem seems to be remembering to invite the relief pitchers to the celebration.

Earl Wilson shut out Oakland 3-0 on 10 hits Friday night and, combined with second-place Baltimore's 10-2 loss to Cleveland, the victory cut Detroit's magic number to five. Any combination of Tiger victories or Oriole losses totaling five wraps it up.

Wilson's shutout was the seventh straight route-going performance for the Detroit pitching staff. The last time manager Mayo Smith had to summon help from the bullpen was Sept. 4.

In other American League games Friday, the streaking New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Washington 4-2 and 2-1, Boston shut out Minnesota 3-0 and Chicago edged California 2-1.

Wilson, who won his 13th game, helped his own cause with an eighth-inning home run, his seventh homer this season and the 33rd of his career.

Cleveland battered Baltimore, scoring six times in the third inning as Sonny Siebert and Mike Paul combined for a three-hitter. Max Alvis smashed a bases-loaded double, driving in three runs and keying the Indians' big inning.

The Yankees ran their winning streak to eight games—longest since 1964, the last year they won the pennant. New York has won 27 of 37.

Mel Stottlemyre won his 20th in the opener, allowing eight hits. Frank Fernandez and Mickey Mantle drove in two runs apiece. In the nightcap, rookie Stan Bahnsen captured his 16th on a seven-inning single. Bill Robinson's sixth-inning single driving in the deciding run.

Ken Harrelson drove in two runs and hit his 35th home run, helping the Red Sox past Minnesota. The two RBI gave the big guy 106 for the season—tops in the majors.

Ray Culp, 13-5, pitched a six-hitter and struck out nine for the victory.

Rookie Bill Melton slammed a two-run double in the first inning and Jack Fisher's five-hit pitching carried the White Sox past California. Melton's hit followed a double by rookie Carlos May and a walk and was enough to beat Jim McGlothlin, 10-14. Fisher is 8-10.

Reds Top Giants, Cardinals Happy

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Cincinnati Reds made a big hit with the St. Louis Cardinals after making five of them against the San Francisco Giants.

Waving their magical bats, the Reds reduced St. Louis' magic number to three Friday night after a 6-3 victory over San Francisco that all but made the Giants disappear from the National League pennant race.

The Cardinals needed a little cheering up after losing to Houston 4-2. Despite their own almost certain center stage presence in the World Series, the Cardinals have been backing toward the pennant, losing seven of their last nine games.

In the rest of the league, Jerry Koonsman tied a record by pitching the New York Mets past Pittsburgh 2-0, Los Angeles beat Atlanta 2-0 and Philadelphia downed the Chicago Cubs 3-1 before losing 9-1 in a two-night doubleheader.

The Reds, best hitting team in baseball, proved it to the Giants in one inning. Trailing 2-0 on Willie McCovey's 34th homer and Jim Hart's double and Dave Marshall's sacrifice fly, Cincinnati unloaded in the seventh inning against Gaylord Perry.

Alex Johnson opened the inning with a triple and one out later Lee May, Tony Perez and Hal McRae stroked consecutive doubles for three runs. Leo Cardenas then climaxed the eruption with his fifth homer, knocking out Perry, 14-14.

The Cardinals, no big hit themselves lately, caught the show in Houston after again forgetting the script that had put them high atop the league.

Still, the Cardinals need only enough victories or San Francisco defeats totaling three to capture their second consecutive flag.

Although the Mets were eliminated long ago, they had some reason to celebrate along with Koonsman, who stopped the Pirates on three hits. The victory was the 67th for New York, their most since entering the league in 1962, and the shutout was the seventh for Koonsman, tying the league mark for a rookie.

Claude Osteen, 10-18, scattered 10 hits for Los Angeles as the Dodgers won for the eighth time in 10 outings. Phil Niekro, 11-12, took the loss when Willie Crawford singled and scored on run and drove in the other with a double.

Philadelphia won its opener behind Rich Allen's two homers — he has 30 — for three runs and Chris Short's two-hitter for his eighth victory in a row. He is 17-11.

Men Hens Out Of Cup Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maybe it's the lockdown that sets in after a rugged flag race, but pennant-winners in the International League don't often win the Governor's Cup playoffs. Toledo's Mud Hens are the latest case in point.

A 5-1 loss at fourth-place Jacksonville eliminated the IL champions from the playoffs Friday night. It was Jacksonville's third victory in four games of the best-of-five first round Governor's Cup series.

But in the nightcap, the Cubs had the big hits—Billy Williams' 30th homer and Ernie Banks' 32nd, along with a two-run single by Willie Smith and a two-run double by Ron Santo. Rich Nye, 6-12, coasted with a seven-hitter.

Extremely doubtful, Colt coach Don Shula said of his star quarterback's chances of starting Sunday's game against San Francisco and named Earl Morrall as the likely signal-caller.

Unitas hurt his throwing arm a week ago against Dallas and the usually stoic leader of the Colts admitted "it hurts worse than ever," after a brief workout.

The game is one of six Sunday afternoon with the long weekend winding up Monday night with Los Angeles at St. Louis. The television coverage (CBS-TV, 9:30 EDT).

In addition to the San Francisco-Baltimore affair, the other Sunday games are Philadelphia at Green Bay, New York at Pittsburgh, Detroit at Dallas, Washington at Chicago and Cleveland at New Orleans.

Morrall, acquired from New York Aug. 25, has had only a minimum of preparation, but the 49ers haven't beaten Baltimore in five years and managed only a 1-5 exhibition record to Baltimore's 5-1. John Brodie beat out George Mira as quarterback of new 49er coach Dick Nolan's multiple-style offense.

Atlanta has lost running backs Ron Rector and Junior Coffey, but the defense, led by linebacker Tommy Nobis, is improved. Joe Kapp, who had trouble adjusting from years in the Canadian League last season, has won the No. 1 quarterbacking job for Minnesota and is playing with confidence.

Green Bay, under new coach Phil Bengtson, will be seeking an unprecedented fourth consecutive title against a patched-up Philadelphia team. The Eagles have suffered injuries to several key players, including quarterback Norm Snead. King Hill and John Huarte probably will share the quarterback spot. The Packers, led by Bart Starr, looked their old selves in their final tune-ups.

Injuries plagued the Steelers during the exhibitions, but most are healthy for the Giants. Kent Nix makes his debut as the regular quarterback. Scrambling Fran Tarkenton and his favorite target, swift Homer Jones, key the Giant attack.

Denny McLain Is Reaching Out For 30th Win Today

DETROIT (AP) — This is the Year of the Pitcher in major league baseball, and the Pitcher of the Year is Denny McLain, a precocious 24-year-old who may owe more to a couple of dislocated toes than a strong right arm.

The episode of the dislocated toes just may be the reason McLain was standing out on the mound today in front of a national television audience (NBC, 2:15 p.m., EDT) shooting to become the first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean in 1934.

It was just a little over a year ago that the Case of the Dislocated Toes became a part of baseball lore. McLain headed into September with 17 victories and his Detroit Tigers looking for several more as they battled for the American League pennant.

But it was it for McLain. Two dislocated toes kept him from making another start until the last day of the season and the Tigers finished one game behind pennant-winning Boston.

No one on the Tigers is about to say frankly that McLain's dislocated toes cost Detroit the pennant, but there's no doubt the feeling existed—and undoubtedly became somewhat of a sore spot in certain quarters because the injury occurred off the playing field.

McLain's explanation was that he had been lolling on a couch at home, watching a dreary late, late movie that slowly put him to sleep. Awakened suddenly by a noise in another part of the house, he automatically jumped off the couch. While McLain was awakened by the noise, his leg apparently was not. It buckled under him and the result was two dislocated toes.

Now, only a year later at age 24, McLain is treading where pitchers such as Sandy Koufax, Bob Feller and Whitey Ford never did during their entire careers—in the heady waters of 30 victories, a plateau reached previously by only 13 pitchers in the history of major league baseball.

The Raiders open defense of their title Sunday afternoon (1:30 EDT) at Buffalo in the first half of a nationally televised (NBC) doubleheader. The second part (4 p.m. EDT) finds New York at Kansas City. Denver plays at Cincinnati in another Sunday contest while Houston and Miami get the weekend under way with a Saturday night clash in the Orange Bowl. Boston and San Diego are idle.

The AFL began its season last weekend and all 10 teams will have seen action by Sunday.

Houston dropped its opener to Kansas City and a loss to Miami would be a severe blow to the Oilers' defense of their Eastern Division crown.

Miami, 0-0, was staggered by an exhibition game injury to pass-catcher Jack Clancy, quarterback Bob Griese's chief target. Larry Csonka, powerful fullback from Syracuse, makes his pro debut despite a bruised thigh.

Injury-plagued Buffalo lost its opener to Boston, although rookie quarterback Dan Darragh filled in capably for Jack Kemp, out for the season. Another newcomer, Haven Moses, caught six passes. But the Bills are hurting for running backs.

New York's passing duo of Joe Namath and George Sauer will test the Kansas City secondary, which saved the Houston opener with two late interceptions.

The Chiefs got some good news when ace ball carrier Mike Garrett's injury turned out to be a bruised bicep rather than a torn shoulder muscle. The Jets, 0-0, running threat, halfback Emerson Boozer, is back from knee surgery and probably will start despite limited preseason action.

Cincinnati's fledgling Bengals go after their first victory in their home debut. They held San Diego to a 10-10 halftime tie in the opener but couldn't hang on.

Denver, 0-0, is without injured quarterback Steve Tensi and will go with either John McCormick or Jimmy Leclair to take some of the defensive pressure away from running back Floyd Little.

Harney, Wall Lead Kemper Golf Open

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Golf pro Paul Harney hardly can be blamed for being slightly prejudiced. He thinks his Pleasant Valley Country Club course "is just beautiful."

Harney had plenty of others agreeing with him—particularly veteran Art Wall—as a trimmed-down field trained its sights on the 7,230-yard layout again today in the third round of the $150,000 Kemper Open golf tournament.

"It's a beautiful course—just beautiful" the 39-year-old Harney said with a grin Friday after posting a five-under-par 67 for a 36-hole total of 137. "It was the easiest round of golf I've played in a long time."

A short while later, Wall, who will be 45 in November, laughingly agreed as he came in with a 68 to move into a first-place tie with Harney at the halfway mark of the 72-hole tourney.

"I haven't played very well this year, but I can't complain about my game the last couple of days," Wall said. "I'll take four birdies and no bogeys anytime."

Tigers Shut Out Oakland, 3-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Do Not Disturb sign has been hanging in the Detroit bullpen for 10 days now and as the Tigers inch closer to the American League pennant their only problem seems to be remembering to invite the relief pitchers to the celebration.

Earl Wilson shut out Oakland 3-0 on 10 hits Friday night and, combined with second-place Baltimore's 10-2 loss to Cleveland, the victory cut Detroit's magic number to five. Any combination of Tiger victories or Oriole losses totaling five wraps it up.

Wilson's shutout was the seventh straight route-going performance for the Detroit pitching staff. The last time manager Mayo Smith had to summon help from the bullpen was Sept. 4.

In other American League games Friday, the streaking New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Washington 4-2 and 2-1, Boston shut out Minnesota 3-0 and Chicago edged California 2-1.

Wilson, who won his 13th game, helped his own cause with an eighth-inning home run, his seventh homer this season and the 33rd of his career.

Cleveland battered Baltimore, scoring six times in the third inning as Sonny Siebert and Mike Paul combined for a three-hit effort. Max Alvis smashed a bases-loaded double, driving in three runs and keying the Indians' big inning.

The Yankees ran their winning streak to eight games—longest since 1964, the last year they won the pennant. New York has won 27 of 37.

Mel Stottlemyre won his 20th in the opener, allowing eight hits. Frank Fernandez and Mickey Mantle drove in two runs apiece. In the nightcap, rookie Stan Bahnsen captured his 16th on a seven-inning win. Bill Robinson's sixth-inning single driving in the deciding run.

Ken Harrelson drove in two runs and hit his 35th home run, helping the Red Sox past Minnesota. The two RBI gave the big guy 106 for the season—tops in the majors.

Ray Culp, 13-5, pitched a six-hitter and struck out nine for the victory.

Rookie Bill Melton slammed a two-run double in the first inning and Jack Fisher's five-hit pitching carried the White Sox past California. Melton's hit followed a double by rookie Carlos May and a walk and was enough to beat Jim McGlothlin, 10-14. Fisher is 8-10.

Reds Top Giants, Cardinals Happy

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Cincinnati Reds made a big hit with the St. Louis Cardinals after making five of them against the San Francisco Giants.

Waving their magical bats, the Reds reduced St. Louis' magic number to three Friday night after a 6-3 victory over San Francisco that all but made the Giants disappear from the National League pennant race.

The Cardinals needed a little cheering up after losing to Houston 4-2. Despite their own almost certain center stage presence in the World Series, the Cardinals have been backing toward the pennant, losing seven of their last nine games.

In the rest of the league, Jerry Kosman tied a record by pitching the New York Mets past Pittsburgh 2-0. Los Angeles beat Atlanta 2-0 and Philadelphia downed the Chicago Cubs 3-1 before losing 9-1 in a two-night doubleheader.

The Reds, best hitting team in baseball, proved it to the Giants in one inning. Trailing 2-0 on Willie McCovey's 34th homer and Jim Hart's double and Dave Marshall's sacrifice fly, Cincinnati unloaded in the seventh inning against Gaylord Perry.

Alex Johnson opened the inning with a triple and one out later Lee May, Tony Perez and Hal McRae stroked consecutive doubles for three runs. Leo Cadenas then climaxed the eruption with his fifth homer, knocking out Perry, 14-14.

The Cardinals, no big hit themselves lately, caught the show in Houston after again forgetting the script that had put them high atop the league.

Still, the Cardinals need only enough victories or San Francisco defeats totaling three to capture their second consecutive flag.

Although the Mets were eliminated long ago, they had some reason to celebrate along with Kosman, who stopped the Pirates on three hits. The victory was the 67th for New York, their most since entering the league in 1962, and the shutout was the seventh for Kosman, tying the league mark for a rookie.

Claude Osteen, 10-18, scattered 10 hits for Los Angeles as the Dodgers won for the eighth time in 10 outings. Phil Niekro, 11-12, took the loss when Willie Crawford singled and scored on run and drove in the other with a double.

Philadelphia won its opener behind Rich Allen's two homers—he has 30—for three runs and Chris Short's two-hitter for his eighth victory in a row. He is 17-11.

Men Hens Out Of Cup Playoffs

Maybe it's the letdown that sets in after a rugged flag race, but pennant-winners in the International League don't often win the Governor's Cup playoffs. Toledo's Mud Hens are the latest case in point.

A 5-1 loss at fourth-place Jacksonville eliminated the IL champions from the playoffs Friday night. It was Jacksonville's third victory in four games of the best-of-five first round Governor's Cup series.

But in the nightcap, the Cubs had the big hits—Billy Williams' 30th homer and Ernie Banks' 32nd, along with a two-run single by Willie Smith and a two-run double by Ron Santo. Rich Nye, 6-12, coasted with a seven-hitter.

Atlanta has lost running backs Ron Rector and Junior Coffey, but the defense, led by linebacker Tommy Nobis, is improved. Joe Kapp, who had trouble adjusting from years in the Canadian League last season, has won the No. 1 quarterbacking job for Minnesota and is playing with confidence.

Green Bay, under new coach Phil Bengtson, will be seeking an unprecedented fourth consecutive title against a patched-up Philadelphia team. The Eagles have suffered injuries to several key players, including quarterback Norm Snead. King Hill and John Huarte probably will share the quarterback spot. The Packers, led by Bart Starr, looked their old selves in their final tune-ups.

Injuries plagued the Steelers during the exhibitions, but most are healthy for the Giants. Kent Nix makes his debut as the regular quarterback. Scrambling Fran Tarkenton and his favorite target, swift Homer Jones, key the Giant attack.

The Chicago Bears, under new coach Jim Dooley, had a 4-1 season with their "total offense," built around Gale Sayers, who may be used as a flanker on occasions. Sonny Jurgensen's return at quarterback puts some life in Washington's attack.

Dallas, two-time Eastern champion, has 21 of 22 regulars back. Don Meredith directs the multiple attack. The Lions big question mark is their offensive line. Quarterback Bill Munson suffered some pulled chest muscles last week, but should be ready.

Unitas Is Unlikely To Play As Colts And 49ers Clash

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Atlanta opens at Minnesota tonight, but the big question on the inaugural weekend of the National Football League's 49th season is whether Johnny Unitas will open at quarterback for the Baltimore Colts.

"Extremely doubtful," Colt coach Don Shula said of his star quarterback's chances of starting Sunday's game against San Francisco and named Earl Morrall as the likely signal-caller.

Unitas hurt his throwing arm a week ago against Dallas and the usually stoic leader of the Colts admitted "it hurts worse than ever," after a brief workout.

The game is one of six Sunday afternoon with the long weekend winding up Monday night with Los Angeles at St. Louis. The television coverage (CBS-TV, 9:30 EDT).

In addition to the San Francisco-Baltimore affair, the other Sunday games are Philadelphia at Green Bay, New York at Pittsburgh, Detroit at Dallas, Washington at Chicago and Cleveland at New Orleans.

Morrall, acquired from New York Aug. 25, has had only a minimum of preparation, but the 49ers haven't beaten Baltimore in five years and managed only a 1-5 exhibition record to Baltimore's 5-1. John Brodie beat out George Miro as quarterback of new 49er coach Dick Nolan's multiple-style offense.

Atlanta has lost running backs Ron Rector and Junior Coffey, but the defense, led by linebacker Tommy Nobis, is improved. Joe Kapp, who had trouble adjusting from years in the Canadian League last season, has won the No. 1 quarterbacking job for Minnesota and is playing with confidence.

Pick Bengals Over Denver In AFL

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Only 17 more weeks to the Super Bowl! The only trouble is, in those 17 weeks there will be 183 football games in the National and American leagues, and there's at least one pro prognosticator who will be relieved if only 92 of those go his way.

Actually there are 186 games from the start of the season until the Super Bowl, or AFL-NFL World Championship Game as Pete Rozelle and friends prefer, but the first three games came up so quickly there was no time to think about the winners, let alone the scores.

Speaking of scores, there's no trace of last season's record. It went the way of the kick for the extra point in the interleague exhibition games (preseason games, to Pete and his friends). But unlike the kick which is back for the regular season, the record isn't.

So here goes what the record is—nothing. All games are Sunday unless otherwise noted.

AFL

Houston 21, Miami 7—Saturday night—Pete Beathard, improved immensely from last year, will have more than enough left over from late fourth-quarter rally that fell just short against Kansas City.

Oakland 28, Buffalo 6—Rookies Dan Darragh, Haven Moses,

Ben Gregory and others continue their on-the-job training and this time get a lesson from the masters.

Cincinnati 17, Denver 10—Quarterback Dewey Warren and fellow rookies make quarterback-trouble Broncos look like the expansion team as Paul Brown gets his first regular season victory since 1962.

New York 16, Kansas City 12—Jets' defense rugged but can't play high enough to stop Jan Stenerud's field goals.

NFL
Minnesota 24, Atlanta 14—Saturday night—Vikings shut out linebacker Tommy Nobis on interceptions and finally trim Falcons.

Green Bay 28, Philadelphia 3—A nice easy one for debuting Phil Bengtson to show off in front of boss Lombardi.

New York 10, Pittsburgh 7—The Steelers have had any number of problems through the years, but this time a guy just out of the Army, kicker Pete Gogolak, beats them.

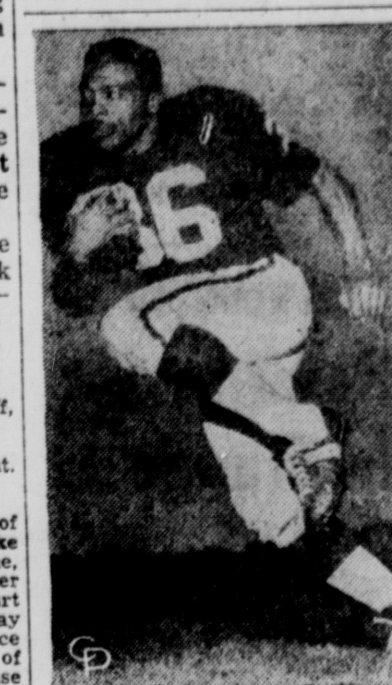

Dallas 20, Detroit 7—Could be a shutout if Lions' quarterback

Bill Munson sits it out with strained chest muscles.
Baltimore 31, San Francisco 10—Johnny Unitas does as well with his sore elbow as Sandy Koufax did with his.

Chicago 21, Washington 14—Another successful debut for a new coach, Jim Dooley, although Skins' Sonny Jurgensen makes it tough.

Cleveland 28, New Orleans 7—No Lou Groza, no field goals but Browns make up for exhibition loss.

Los Angeles 27, St. Louis 10—Monday night—Running back Les Josephson won't even be missed by Rams, but if Cards' back Johnny Roland can't go whole game with his knee St. Louis'll know it.

RAIDERS NO WANT—Clem Daniels, the top rusher in the American Football League, was placed on waivers by that team after a injury suffered last November. Daniels, 31, has gained 5,101 yards in seven years, averaging 4.5 yards per carry, and has scored 30 touchdowns.

Baseball Player Holdout Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball players may stage a mass holdout next spring in the sport's first strike, a spokesman for the players association said Thursday.

Richard Moss said players are refusing to sign contracts for the 1969 season until they can win improvements in pensions, insurance, spring training pay and other fringe benefits. I think the players are prepared to go all the way," Moss said.

Moss, representing the Major League Baseball Association in a legal panel on collective bargaining in professional sports, said the negotiations will open next month.

POLICE OFFICERS DISMISSED FOR SHOOTING—Two Oakland, Calif., policemen have been dismissed for riddling the headquarters of the Black Panther Party (lower) with two dozen bullets fired from a police car. They are Richard V. Williams (left) and Robert Farrell.

Dr. Fager-Damascus Clash Possible At Belmont Park

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Trainer Johnny Nerud says he'll consider sending Dr. Fager against Damascus in the Sept. 28 Woodward at Belmont Park to decide Horse of the Year honors if Damascus will leave his rabbit at home.

Before Dr. Fager won the $100,000 United Nations Handicap at Atlantic City Wednesday in his first start on grass, the 55-year-old Nerud discussed a possible head-to-head meeting of the two great handicap horses.

Dr. Fager proved his trainer's contention that a great horse can win on any footing by driving to a neck victory over the 30-1 shot, Advocate, in 1 3-16 miles United Nations. Fort Marcy, the 1967 grass champion, was third in a field of nine.

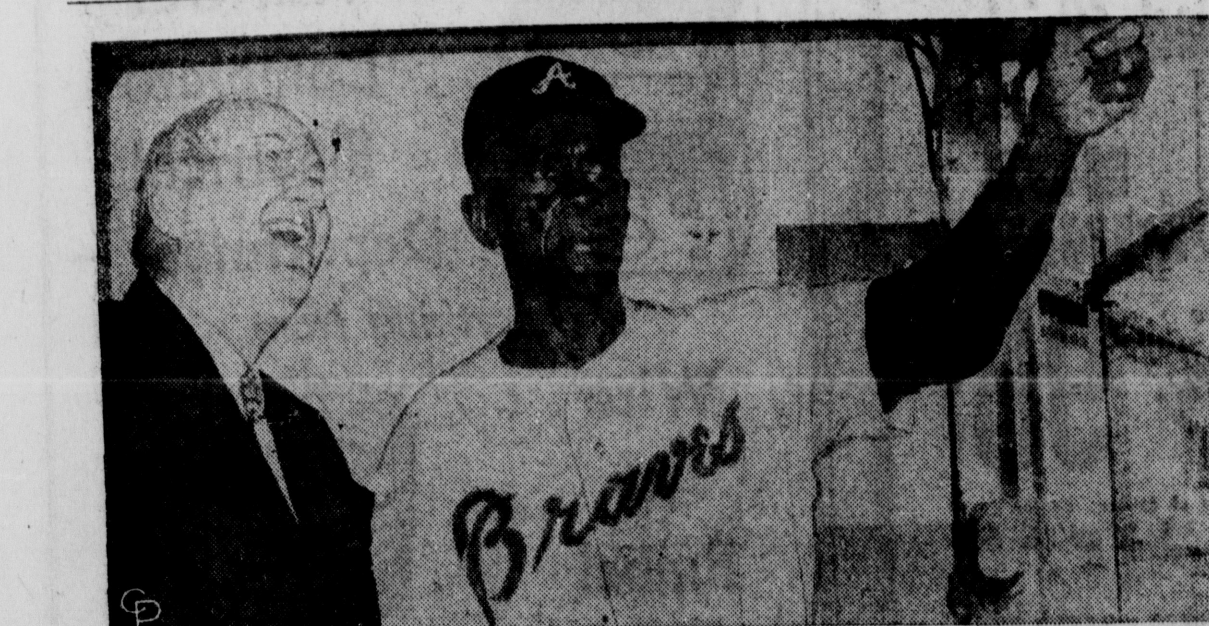

Damascus, who has divided two races this year and four over-all with Dr. Fager, was invited to the U.N., but his handlers said, "No thank you." Dr. Fager's U.N. victory was his 17th in 21 starts and boosted his earnings to $965,952. He has won six of seven this year, including the Washington Park Handicap at Arlington Park in which he set a world record of 1:32 1-5 for the mile.

The rabbit reference by Nerud was to Damascus' stablemate, Hedevar, who is eligible for the 1 1/4-mile Woodward Stakes. Trainer Frank Whiteley twice has used the speedy front-running Hedevar to run Dr. Fager into the ground, so the stretch-running Damascus could come from off the pace to win.

"I am taking him (Dr. Fager) back to Belmont," said Nerud, "and if he's sound I would consider running him in the Woodward. I would be reluctant to go against Damascus if he (Whiteley) is using a whipsaw (Hedevar) on me."

Nerud added, "no one horse has ever beat Dr. Fager. Damascus uses another horse. Every time Damascus ran by himself against Dr. Fager, Damascus got his tail whipped. If the other horse (Hedevar), belonged to somebody else and was trying to win, I wouldn't care, but he's not trying to win."

Dr. Fager had no trouble with the grass, winning the U.N. in 1:55 1-5. The 4 1/2 favorite of the crowd of 16,557, he returned $3.60, $3.20 and $2.60.

OLD-TIMERS' REUNION—Pitcher Satchel Paige, who, in the twilight of a long, long baseball career, has become a coach of the Atlanta Braves, shows another old-timer, Dizzy Dean, one-time mound star of the St. Louis Cardinals, around the bullpen before a Braves-Mets game in New York. Dean is now a sportscaster.

Ohio Demos Hear Tax Testimony

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The platform committee of the Democratic State Convention heard testimony Friday ranging from tax reforms to collective bargaining for public employees.

The 37-member committee concludes its hearings here today and will submit a platform draft to the convention next week.

On Friday, A. D. Maslar of the Ohio County Commissioners Association said counties need more revenue and said the legislature should change existing permissive taxes to mandatory levies.

Democratic Senate candidate John J. Gilligan said a state income tax should replace property taxes, with the revenue returned to local governments.

Collective bargaining rights should be granted all public employees, said Skelton Frederick of the Ohio Federation of Teachers. His group favors a state labor relations board.

Police Nab Knife-Wielder In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Police fired two shots at a knife-wielding man Friday night near the Sheraton-Blackstone hotel and later captured him in a theater basement next to the hotel where Spiro T. Agnew, Republican vice presidential candidate, was staying overnight.

Hotel officials said Agnew, governor of Maryland, was in his third-floor suite at the time of the incident and they declined further comment.

The gunplay interrupted a performance of "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" at the Blackstone Theater for 15 minutes.

The man in custody was identified as Albert Townsend, 30, whose address was that of a hotel some two dozen blocks south of the Sheraton-Blackstone on Michigan Avenue.

Townsend was charged with aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Policemen John Gleason and James Radetz said they pursued the man west on Balbo Drive past the main entrance of the Sheraton-Blackstone after they saw him wandering on Michigan cursing and threatening pedestrians with the four-inch knife.

An attempt to subdue him with Chemical Mace in front of the theater failed and he fled down a gangway at the west side of the theater.

"I gotta kill, I gotta kill," police quoted him as shouting as he fled.

Radetz fired one shot as Townsend ran inside the stage entrance. He fired again after Townsend threw him to the floor as they wrestled just inside the stage door entrance.

Ross County Schools Have 7,743 Pupils

CHILLICOTHE — Ross County School enrollment this year is 7,743 pupils according to County Superintendent James Shope.

Breakdown by schools shows the enrollment at Adena is 1,331; Huntington, 1,149; Paint Valley, 1,078; Scioto Valley (Southeastern), 1,559; Union Scioto (Union), 1,521; and Zane Trace, 1,805.

There is a total of 320 teachers in the Ross County schools.

Probe Slaying Of Little Girl, 3

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Stark County authorities are investigating the shooting death Friday of a 3-year-old Canal Fulton girl.

The child, Tamera Angela Tekuacic, was reported shot in the back with a .22 caliber weapon. No other details were released.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Patricia Tekuacic, was admitted to Aultman Hospital in shock.

Sheriff George Papadopolous and Prosecutor David Dow Jr. are investigating.

HHH: Nixon 'Fearless Fossdick'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey is heaping scorn on Richard M. Nixon's law and order credentials; calling him a "fearless Fossdick who has never been a television marshal or worn a "Cracker-jack badge."

Four times Friday, the Democratic presidential nominee employed figures and images of the comics, Western and other forms of American folklore in an evident effort to blunt the effectiveness of the issue many Democratic strategists consider one of their main liabilities.

And the vice president, in a television interview by college students, demanded that Nixon apologize for calling him "tragically naive" on the subject of law and order. He said that when he was mayor of Minneapolis 20 years ago "law and order was the rule of the day."

"It is ridiculous," Humphrey said, "to call a man naive when you haven't even as much as played a marshal on a television program or been the mayor of a city." He also said "Mr. Nixon doesn't seem to understand the whole process of law and order."

The GOP nominee issued his most detailed and direct attack

Thief Steals Van Camp Payroll

A 12-check payroll worth $2,000 was stolen from the Van Camp Co. on Island Road Friday, according to a report filed with the sheriff's department.

Burt Cook, a foreman with the company, told sheriff's deputies that he had placed the checks in a desk drawer at the office about 7:30 p.m. An hour later Tom Tilton, a company employee, went to collect his check and found the payroll gone.

There were no signs of forcible entry, according to the report of Deputy Richard Clark. The incident is still under investigation.

Report Red Chinese Army Hunting Down Red Guards

HONG KONG (AP) — Terrorized for more than a year by Mao Tse-tung's rampaging Red Guards, Canton is now being quietly but efficiently terrified by workers and soldiers hunting down the Red Guards, according to travelers from that south China metropolis of four million.

For two weeks, the travelers report, Canton residents have been living in ever-increasing fear that they will be falsely accused and falsely punished.

They say there have been hundreds of cases of homes invaded at night, with the occupants accused of past help to the Red Guards and dragged off for questioning.

Scores reportedly have been jailed and others have just disappeared after the midnight raids.

Cantonese are said to be complaining bitterly that they are being accused of giving shelter and food to the Red Guards in the violence-filled months up to July when, in fact, the Red Guards occupied places and threatened death to those who did not supply food.

Many of the reports come from Hong Kong Chinese returning from business and family visits to Kwangtung Province, of which Canton is the capital.

Many reports admittedly are second hand and cannot be individually confirmed. But in concert they dovetail well enough to indicate that Canton has been going through a new, if different, reign of terror.

It began, according to both the Red Guards and dragged off for questioning.

Scores reportedly have been jailed and others have just disappeared after the midnight raids.

Friends may call at the Deffenbaugh Funeral Home beginning 10 a.m. Sunday.

Friday 13, Unlucky for Good Samaritan

Being a good Samaritan on Friday the 13th doesn't always pay off as a Mt. Sterling area man found out Friday.

Danny Rowe, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was following a Columbus area man through the construction area on Route 71 near Frank Road. The other car, driven by Arthur Galves, struck a barrel along the road. Galves received head injuries.

Rowe moved Galves over into the driver's seat and started to drive the injured man to a hospital.

About two miles up the road Rowe, who was speeding according to a report filed by Highway Patrolman L. P. Hardesty, lost control of his car, crossed into the median strip, ran across the other side of the road and struck a fence.

Both men were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital for treatment of injuries. Rowe was charged by the state patrol with speeding.

Hartke Attacks Nixon, Wallace

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Vance Hartke, D - Ind., charged presidential candidates Richard Nixon and George Wallace with practicing the "doctrine of denial."

Hartke said Friday that they neglected the major issues of the day while Democrats debated them and sought solutions to the nation's problems.

Hartke spoke at a $10-a-plate dinner here to raise funds for the congressional campaign of Dr. Robert E. Cecil. About 250 Democrats were present.

Cecil, a political science professor at Wright State University, is seeking the 7th District seat presently held by Rep. Clarence J. Brown Jr.

Hartke said "democracy in action" was seen at the Democrats' Chicago convention.

Agnew Drops Red Stance

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, who for more than a week hammered at the theme of Communist control of student protests, has in recent days dropped his attack.

In answer to a newsman's question Friday, the Republican candidate for vice president said omission of any reference to communism in recent speeches was not deliberate "but I think the subject's been emphasized a little too much and I had no idea of re-emphasizing it."

He added, "Let's just drop the Communist thing—put it to bed. I think that it's been overworked."

Ohio Demos Hear Tax Testimony

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The platform committee of the Democratic State Convention heard testimony Friday ranging from tax reforms to collective bargaining for public employees.

The 37-member committee concludes its hearings here today and will submit a platform draft to the convention next week.

On Friday, A. D. Maslar of the Ohio County Commissioners Association said counties need more revenue and said the legislature should change existing permissive taxes to mandatory levies.

Democratic Senate candidate John J. Gilligan said a state income tax should replace property taxes, with the revenue returned to local governments.

Collective bargaining rights should be granted all public employees, said Skelton Frederick of the Ohio Federation of Teachers. His group favors a state labor relations board.

Police Nab Knife-Wielder In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Police fired two shots at a knife-wielding man Friday night near the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel and later captured him in a theater basement next to the hotel where Spiro T. Agnew, Republican vice presidential candidate, was staying overnight.

Hotel officials said Agnew, governor of Maryland, was in his third-floor suite at the time of the incident and they declined further comment.

The gunplay interrupted a performance of "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" at the Blackstone Theater for 15 minutes.

The man in custody was identified as Albert Townsend, 30, whose address was that of a hotel some two dozen blocks south of the Sheraton-Blackstone on Michigan Avenue.

Townsend was charged with aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Policemen John Gleason and James Radetz said they pursued the man west on Balbo Drive past the main entrance of the Sheraton-Blackstone after they saw him wandering on Michigan cursing and threatening pedestrians with the four-inch knife.

An attempt to subdue him with Chemical Mace in front of the theater failed and he fled down a gangway at the west side of the theater.

"I gotta kill, I gotta kill," police quoted him as shouting as he fled.

Radetz fired one shot as Townsend ran inside the stage entrance. He fired again after Townsend threw him to the floor as they wrestled just inside the stage door entrance.

HHH: Nixon 'Fearless Fosdick'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey is heaping scorn on Richard M. Nixon's law and order credentials; calling him a "fearless Fosdick" who has never been a television marshal or worn a "Cracker-jack badge."

Four times Friday, the Democratic presidential nominee employed figures and images of the comics, Western and other forms of American folklore in an evident effort to blunt the effectiveness of the issue many Democratic strategists consider one of their main liabilities.

And the vice president, in a television interview by college students, demanded that Nixon apologize for calling him "tragically naive" on the subject of law and order. He said that when he was mayor of Minneapolis 20 years ago "law and order was the rule of the day."

"It is ridiculous," Humphrey said, "to call a man naive when you haven't even as much as played a marshal on a television program or been the mayor of a city." He also said "Mr. Nixon doesn't seem to understand the whole process of law and order."

The GOP nominee issued his most detailed and direct attack on Humphrey, saying that the War on Poverty "is no substitute for a war on crime" and charging that the United States has "perhaps the worst crime rate in civilized history."

Noting Nixon's attack, Humphrey said "I doubt that he's even got one of those Cracker-jack badges."

"America is not going to be a better country just because you build a new jail," he added, observing that "we're not electing a sheriff to put in the White House. We're electing a president."

From New Jersey, Humphrey flew to Washington, D.C., for a few hours of work, then to Pittsburgh for a round of interviews and a speech this afternoon at a Democratic women's picnic. He planned to return to the capital later today.

Thief Steals Van Camp Payroll

A 12-check payroll worth $2,000 was stolen from the Van Camp Co. on Island Road Friday, according to a report filed with the sheriff's department.

Burt Cook, a foreman with the company, told sheriff's deputies that he had placed the checks in a desk drawer at the office about 7:30 p.m. An hour later Tom Tilton, a company employee, went to collect his check and found the payroll gone.

There were no signs of forcible entry, according to the report of Deputy Richard Clark. The incident is still under investigation.

Report Red Chinese Army Hunting Down Red Guards

HONG KONG (AP) — Terrorized for more than a year by Mao Tse-tung's rampaging Red Guards, Canton is now being quietly but efficiently terrified by workers and soldiers hunting down the Red Guards, according to travelers from that south China metropolis of four million.

For two weeks, the travelers report, Canton residents have been living in ever-increasing fear that they will be falsely accused and falsely punished.

They say there have been hundreds of cases of homes invaded at night, with the occupants accused of past help to the Red Guards and dragged off for questioning.

Scores reportedly have been jailed and others have just disappeared after the midnight raids.

Cantonese are said to be complaining bitterly that they are being accused of giving shelter and food to the Red Guards in the violence-filled months up to July when, in fact, the Red Guards occupied places and threatened death to those who did not supply food.

Many of the reports come from Hong Kong Chinese returning from business and family visits to Kwangtung Province, of which Canton is the capital.

Many reports admittedly are second hand and cannot be individually confirmed. But in concert they dovetail well enough to indicate that Canton has been going through a new, if different, reign of terror.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather.

This will be an ideal weekend for Ohioans from a weather standpoint.

A high pressure system which was over southern Ohio Friday night was moving slowly eastward, bringing about fair and dry weather which will prevail over the state through Sunday.

Skies were clear Friday night and temperatures were generally in the 50s.

It will be clear again tonight with lows expected to range in the 50s.

Monday's outlook shows increasing cloudiness and warm weather.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Clear and cool tonight. Lows in the 50s. Mostly sunny and warm Sunday.

NORTHWEST, SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST, CENTRAL EAST Lows mostly in the 50s. Fair and warm Sunday.

Seek Remedies In Teacher Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The administrator of an experimental Brooklyn school district has called for a state takeover of the unit to break the deadlock which brought two citywide teachers' strikes in a week.

The 55,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers struck again Friday paralyzing the nation's largest school system and shutting most of the 1.1-million pupils out of their classrooms.

the travelers and some China analysts in position to tap other sources, about four weeks ago.

First, Peking decreed that the bloody factional fighting between feuding Red Guard organizations in Canton had to be stopped. It ordered the army to use whatever force was necessary.

The army drive started with the troops and officers trying to reason with the Red Guards. But the Red Guards, infuriated by attempts to stop their excesses, resisted and fought back.
